Prison Chief Confirms Drug Charge

VANCOUVER (CP) — Warden Hugh Christie of Oakalla Prison Farm admitted today that drugs were still being brought into the prison farm secretly by inmates, although the traffic is down considerably from a year ago.

He was commenting on testimony of Dennis Charles O'Brien, 28, the first man ever charged as an habitual criminal in Victoria.

O'Brien, sentenced in Assize Court in Victoria Tuesday to two years and six months and fined $200 for possession of narcotics, said drugs were for sale at Oakalla. He pleaded guilty Wednesday to a second charge. (See story, page 6.)

Mr. Christie described as "insignificant" the amount of drugs now getting into Oakalla.

"A year ago the inmates boasted that drugs could be obtained in the jail at the rate of an ounce a week," he said. "Now it is only on rare occasions that it gets in."

The warden described how prisoners get drugs into the institution by swallowing them in a small rubber container. He said all other methods have virtually been stopped.

Russia Pulls Out 20% of Jet Planes in East Germany

BERLIN (AP) — The Soviet Union has cut its jet air force in Germany by 20 per cent, it was learned today on high Western authority.

One hundred twin-jet bombers, which had posed an atomic threat to Western capitals, have been pulled out of Soviet bases lying between the Elbe and Oder.

Withdrawal of the twin-jets followed the surprise Russian evacuation of four air bases in East Germany in July and August. They have not been made operational again.

STOCKHOLM (AP) — A Harvard University scientist and a German-born British professor jointly won the 1953 Nobel Prize for medicine and physiology for their discovery of fundamental life mechanisms inside human cells, it was announced today.

The honor went to Dr. Fritz Albert Lipmann, 54, professor of biochemistry at Harvard Medical School, Cambridge, Mass., and Dr. Hans Adolf Krebs, 53, professor of biochemistry at Britain's Sheffield University.

They will share the 175,292 Swedish crowns $33,840 prize money.

Israel, Arab Row Critical Says Bennike

But UN Official Sees No Big War

NEW YORK (UP) — Maj. Gen. Vagan Bennike, chief of United Nations Truce Observation Commission in Palestine, arrived today to report to the United Nations Security Council on the Israeli-Arab crisis.

The Danish general said the differences in the Middle East are "critical," but he said he did not believe that the situation would break out "into a major conflict."

The council is scheduled to hear him tomorrow.

He said he did not think it would be possible for Israel and Jordan to settle their dispute among themselves.

TRAIN BLOWN UP
The UN trouble shooter arrived as tensions rose in the Middle East.

An Israeli freight train was wrecked today by land mines near the border of Jordan and an Israeli spokesman charged it was an act of Arab sabotage.

Bennike said he would not propose that present demilitarized areas between Jordan and Israel be extended.

"I hope that my meeting with the security council will bring peace to this dangerous part of the world," Bennike said.

Asked if his report would include a survey of the re-settlement of Arab refugees in the Middle East, Bennike replied: "Yes, there are 800,000 of them sitting along the border. They have lost all of their possessions and many of them can sit and look at their own land on the other side of the border."

Liberals, CCF Prepare to Join Four-Way Fight

Social Credit candidate Einar Gunderson and PC leader Deane Finlayson are the only two aspirants for the November 24 election with hats officially in the ring — but the two other major B.C. parties have set the political wheels in motion.

1. CCF's Victoria Association will meet at 8 tonight, in the Commodore Street CCF hall, to appoint a nominating committee.

2. Victoria and District Liberal Association appointed its nominating committee two days ago, and announcement of the candidate is expected next week.

Mrs. May Campbell, veteran political campaigner, said a general meeting of the CCF association will be held soon to discuss the nominating committee's recommendations.

Finance Minister Gunderson, at present on a trip to Peru on the pre-inaugural flight of CPA's new South American Service, will return next week, and is expected to launch his campaign immediately.

Both achievements were described by Dr. Goran Liljestrand, secretary of the medical Nobel committee, as being "of the utmost theoretical significance and very likely to have great practical importance in understanding diseases and similar disturbances."

The award was the 44th made by Stockholm's Caroline Institute of Medicine under the will of the late Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite, who died in 1896.

Both winners are natives of Germany, but have become citizens of their adopted countries.

New Berlin Mayor

Leader of the Conservative majority on West Berlin's council, Dr. Walter Scheiber, today was elected mayor of the Soviet-encircled city to succeed the late Ernst Reuter.

Scheiber, 69, strong anti-Communist, has been in charge of municipal administration since Reuter's death September 29.

'READ' AND 'AIDA' CROSSWORD STICKLERS

Two words proved big stumbling blocks for Times crossworders this week and no one came up with the correct answer.

To the definition "a long one may be found rather tiring," the puzzle composer gives the answer "read" rather than "road." His explanation is that it isn't a road that is tiring, but the traveling of it.

The other stickler, which some crossworders thought was a misprint, was the answer "aida" to "is and in an opera." It was just this shading in the definition that ruled out "aria."

Correct answer to the puzzle, No. 30, is on Page 23. The next puzzle, appearing Friday, Saturday and Monday will be worth $200, plus a $50 bonus if a winner is a regular subscriber.

W. A. Scott Demands Cause of Expulsion

Oak Bay Dispute May Be Aired on Floor Of B.C. Socred Convention at Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — W. A. Scott of Oak Bay, expelled from the Social Credit League some time ago, appeared at the league's annual convention here today.

Mr. Scott said he was here for one reason, to find out why he was expelled. He said he will ask some delegates to raise the question on the floor of the convention.

The league refused to renew Mr. Scott's membership card after the Oak Bay constituency association demanded his expulsion for his part in protesting the suspension of two civil servants by the government during the summer for allegedly mishandling tenders.

Mr. Scott said he asked league president John Perdue for the reason for his expulsion and the only answer he got was that it was a unanimous executive board decision.

Mr. Scott said he had received no reason for his expulsion from any party official. The only word was a brief note from the league's Victoria office that his application for membership renewal had been rejected.

He said he wants to know how he can be suspended without a hearing.

ATTACKS LIBERALS
In an hour-long speech national Socred leader Solon Low today struck out at all major political parties in Canada. He specifically mentioned the Liberal party which he said was dedicated to "the spoils system."

He said the senate was a place where "the wicked ceased to worry and the weary are at rest."

He asked what was the use of a senate that was the same "color" as the Commons? How could hasty legislation be checked?

Later, Premier W. A. C. Bennett welcomed the 500-odd delegates from all parts of B.C. and forecast an eventual federal Social Credit government.

French Troops Seize Vietnam Stronghold

PARIS (AP) — Agence France-Presse today said a French column has captured Phu Nho Quan, stronghold of the Communist-led Vietminh 55 miles southwest of Hanoi, Indo-China.

The French launched one of their biggest land, sea and air offensives of the seven-year Indo-China war a week ago in an effort to uproot and wipe out two key Vietminh divisions south of the vital Red river delta.

Their BOAC Stratocruiser is scheduled to reach Gander, Nfld., for a refueling stop at 3:45 a.m. local time November 24. After an hour-and-a-half stop the plane will depart for Bermuda arriving there at 10 a.m.

IRISH SWEEP DRAW STARTS

DUBLIN (AP) — Drawing started this morning on the Irish hospitals sweepstakes, with a 20-year record prize fund of $4,760,000.

Total proceeds on the sale of tickets on the Cambridge-shire horse race was more than $8,400,000, a large chunk of which will go to support Irish hospitals after deductions of expenses of the sweepstakes. The race will be run Oct. 28 at Newmarket, England.

Prize money on this year's Cambridge-shire topped last June's sweepstakes record on the Epsom Derby by $840,000.

A-POWER PLANTS THREE YEARS AWAY

United States Announces Plan to Match British Project; Ready About Same Time

CHICAGO (AP) — The United States today announced its first full-scale attempt to tame atomic power for peace—a move billed as "America's answer" to Soviet claims of mastery over dread new nuclear weapons of war.

Thomas E. Murray, a member, said the Atomic Energy Commission will build an industrial power reactor producing at least 60,000 kilowatts of electrical energy — enough to run a city of 50,000.

He said the project will cost "many tens of millions dollars" and that the AEC hopes to have an operating plant in three to four years.

The plant, Murray said, may be located "at or near" an AEC facility for separating uranium-235, the paydirt of atomic power, from natural uranium.

The AEC has one such facility at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and is building others at Paducah, Ky., and Portsmouth, Ohio.

He said Westinghouse Corporation will be the principal contractor for the new plant, of a design "inherited from a naval project." Rear Admiral H. G. Rickover, the U.S. navy's reactor expert, was given "immediate responsibility" for the new program.

BRITAIN UNDER WAY
LONDON (AP) — Britain already is building a full-scale atomic power plant and is ready to start work on another, a supply ministry spokesman said today.

The first, announced last May by Supply Minister Duncan Sandys, is under construction in the Calder hill area of Cumberland. A government spokesman said it will supply around 50,000 kilowatts to a big atomic research center.

"This first station—it should be ready within three years—would be able to meet the needs of a fair-sized town," the spokesman said.

"We are ready to build a second and larger station as soon as we settle on a site."

The spokesman said the second plant will feed electricity into Britain's power networks.

STATE DEPARTMENT BLAMED

Plan to Meet Beria In Spain 'Fouled Up'

NEW YORK (AP) — A newspaper says a state department official disrupted arrangements he had made for a meeting in Spain with a man said to be ex-Russian police boss Lavrenty P. Beria.

Gene Fuson of the San Diego (Calif.) Union, returning from a trip to Spain, said Wednesday night he had worked out plans for meeting the man believed to be Beria.

But interference by U.S. state department representatives in Spain upset the schedule, Fuson claimed.

It was the San Diego newspaper which first carried the report—last September 20—that Beria, former No. 2 power in the Soviet government, had escaped Russia, where he had been put under arrest.

Fuson related that he had arranged to meet the alleged Beria, and two other men, through an intermediary in Malaga, Spain. But in Malaga, Fuson said, he was informed by the Spanish secret police that a state department representative had approached the intermediary and demanded, "where is Beria?"

Because the state department man did not have any of the recognition signals agreed upon, Fuson said he was informed, the intermediary "clammed up" and then was arrested by police at a state department agent's behest.

Meanwhile, Fuson said, the supposed Beria and the two others with him learned of the police action and disappeared. Fuson said later efforts to make contact with them under the original arrangements failed.

Lyttelton Indicts Jagan on 6 Points

Deposed Guiana Premier Listens From Gallery

LONDON (BUP) — Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton charged today in the House of Commons that an international Communist conspiracy had attempted to set up a Communist state in British Guiana.

He demanded parliamentary approval for the suspension of the British South American colony.

Lyttelton opened an urgent debate before a crowded House of Commons on British policy in the so-called "Red colony."

Prime Minister Winston Churchill has called for a vote of confidence on Britain's swift action in sending troops to the area, ousting its Leftist government and suspending its constitution.

The colony's ousted premier, Dr. Cheddi Jagan, a handsome East Indian dentist who married an American and learned his profession in Chicago, sat in the distinguished visitors' gallery along with his deposed education minister, L. F. S. Burnham.

The two listened attentively as Lyttelton ripped into the policies of their People's Progressive Party government.

"What emerges," Lyttelton told the House, "is a coherent picture of ministers, no doubt largely dominated by Communist ideas, who gradually reduced government to a farce, who were threatening the order of the colony, threatening the livelihood of its inhabitants and undermining not only its present economic stability but all chances of building it up."

He spoke to a tense House whose galleries were crowded with colonial observers, on a question which Churchill's government chose to regard as one of confidence.

Lyttelton declared that impartial observers would draw six conclusions from the white paper on British Guiana just published.

"1. The (PPP) ministers were attempting to gain control of the machinery of government for the sole furtherance of party and not national interests."

"2. Ministers, while holding their portfolios, first succeeded in promoting and inciting strikes for political purposes in the sugar industry and then attempted, though without success, to turn those strikes into general strikes."

"3. Ministers attempted to oust existing trade unions and substitute unions under their own control."

"4. Ministers condoned, if not incited, the population to violence."

"5. They neglected in a most irresponsible manner their duties for administering their departments ...

question that he intended to deprive his political opponents of the right to vote, but quickly qualified the statement by adding that only "warmongers and supporters of racial hatred" would be disfranchised.

Burnham said the guilt of alleged warmongers and haters would be decided by "the same people who judge larceny and other crimes."

Neither man would answer when asked if that means the PPP planned to "set up tribunals to judge people's politics and disfranchise them on political grounds alone."

Chair-Swinging Anti-Red Prisoner Agrees to Return

PANMUNJOM, Korea, (UP) — The neutral nations repatriation commission sent a chair-swinging anti-Communist Chinese prisoner back to the Reds today, and the Allies announced they would protest.

Polish and Czech members ended their three-day boycott of the commission's activities and subjected the confused Chinese to an intensive 45-minute grilling.

The commission then announced that the Chinese, who tried to hit a Communist propagandist with a chair last Saturday during a "come home to Communism" interview, now wanted to go home.

A United Nations command spokesman said the Allies objected to the repatriation of the Chinese because the five-nation neutral commission had failed to inform the UN the man would be heard.

Students Demonstrate

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Two thousand shouting students carrying anti-Yugoslav posters demonstrated for disputed Trieste today in downtown Milan. No incidents were reported.

As in previous rallies in Rome, demonstrators here carried Italian flags and scores of posters proclaiming: "Down With Tito," and "Death to Tito."

OLIVER LYTTELTON ... spells out charges.

Used Standard Communist Methods

"6. They were inspired by Communist ideas and were using standard Communist methods, which would turn British Guiana into a Communist state with a single-party government."

Lyttelton charged that the PPP ministers had organized the sugar strikes in Guiana and declared that evidence for the controversial charge that they against Europeans and government officials came from "police agents."

"I have myself no doubt whatever of the reliability of these charges," Lyttelton said.

He said the attorney-general of British Guiana was considering filing criminal charges, although fear and intimidation made it difficult to obtain sufficient evidence.

"We are here faced by part of the international Communist conspiracy to set up totalitarian states and plant their ideas wherever they think the seeds will find fertile ground," he said.

There appeared to be no danger of Churchill's government losing the confidence vote even though the laborite opposition planned to vote against the government's actions in the matter.

Jagan conferred with Labor leaders of Commons following his arrival Wednesday by plane. Labor's parliamentary committee held a two-hour session with the ex-premier and Burnham.

A Laborite amendment to the Conservative government's motion for approval of its actions in Guiana deplored the actions and speeches of some members of Jagan's People's Progressive Party. But it added parliament "was not satisfied that the situation in British Guiana was of such a character as to justify the extreme step of suspending the constitution."

Shortly after parliament took up the question, Jagan told a press conference that although he is a "Marxist" his party has no links with Moscow and never intended to set up a Red dictatorship in Guiana.

He admitted in response to a question that he intended to set up a Communist state in British Guiana.

Churchill-Malenkov Talk Futile—Adenauer

German Chancellor Says West Exhausts Efforts to Woo Reds

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
(Copyright, 1953, by United Press)

BONN, Germany (UP) — German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today the West has almost exhausted its efforts to woo Russia into Big Four peace talks and warned that the Kremlin will end the cold war only when it realizes it cannot grab control of western Europe.

In an exclusive United Press interview, the first he has granted since his re-election Oct. 6 to another four-year term, Adenauer said he doubted whether British Prime Minister Winston Churchill could produce worthwhile results by making a personal trip to Moscow.

"I am convinced that one should not attempt to use means that are hopeless in advance," Adenauer said. "That only strengthens the position of the other side and makes them think we are crawling after them."

Adenauer said he most certainly would not go to Moscow himself to try to reach a direct agreement with the Russians.

The 77-year-old chancellor expressed belief that if the Russians reject the latest Western invitation to a Big Four conference at Lugano on Nov. 9, the West would drop further attempts to bring them into cold war talks.

"I believe the latest note will be the last one if the reply is negative," Adenauer said. "There is no point in continuing to chase after them. We merely hurt our own objective of reaching an understanding with the Russians."

veteran German statesman stressed constantly his firm conviction that a cold war agreement with the Russians will be possible only when they realize the West, particularly the United States, is too strong for them.

Adenauer was optimistic however, that there would not be a shooting war.

"I do not believe there will be a hot war," Adenauer declared emphatically. "The western powers certainly will not start one, nor will the Russians because the risk would be far too great. I still believe, as I have constantly reiterated, that in internal conditions in Russia must some day reach a point where those in power will say there is no point in continuing the cold war because their people are restless and hungry. Then they will realize they must come to an agreement."

Adenauer expressed his "extreme regret" that the European army treaty has not yet been ratified.

"That would rob Soviet Russia of her last hope of laying hands on western Europe and considerably advance the chances of reasonable negotiations."

The chancellor said he believed France would ratify the treaty early next year at the latest, but he indicated neither Germany nor the rest of the west could wait indefinitely for French action.

"I realize there can be no decision before the French presidential election on Dec. 17," Adenauer said. "But there must be one in the first few months of next year. We can wait when there are reasons that we can understand for postponing a decision. But we can not wait longer if we get the impression that they are seeking excuses to delay a decision. The rest of the world also can not wait."

Adenauer insisted he wanted at any cost to avoid saying anything the French might interpret as a threat.

No Alternative to European Army

He said, however, he still felt, like President Eisenhower, that there is no alternative to the European army as a means of bringing Germany into the West's defense front.

Adenauer disclosed officially for the first time that he is about to start talks with the French aimed at settlement of the Saar dispute.

He said these talks would begin with French High Commissioner Andre Francois-Poncet and that later he would continue negotiations with Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

Adenauer refused to reveal his terms for a Saar settlement but made it clear they would have to include scrapping the present Saar constitution and "completely" free general elections in the disputed 900-square-mile coal and steel territory.

The Chancellor, when asked how he thought Germany—now divided between east and west—could be reunited, said he believes this can only form part of an overall cold war settlement with the Russians.

Adenauer indicated his belief that the Russian price for a cold war settlement undoubtedly would include a huge United States loan for agricultural and food development projects.

He scoffed at purported Soviet fears of the European army but said he would be willing to give Russia any security guarantees she might want. He indicated his belief that alleged Russian fears merely were a cover-up for preparations for a possible showdown with the United States.

"If Soviet Russia really thinks she needs such a security agreement with the European defense community or a special one with Germany, let her have one," Adenauer said.

"But don't be deceived by Russian outcries that they feel threatened by this small Germany," Adenauer added. "The road Russia would like to take is quite clear. She does not want European integration to come about because she wants to dominate western Europe. She wants to dominate western Europe because in her own territory she never can produce as much coal, iron and steel as the United States."

Soviets Fear Only United States

"Who in the world does Soviet Russia fear?" Adenauer asked. "Only the United States. She could deal with Europe as mere child's play with her left hand in 14 days if it were not for the United States. She has 170 divisions facing the west and 60 or 70 fully equipped divisions in the satellite states. This whole Europe is practically nothing. So, to talk of fear is absolutely ridiculous. The United States should fully realize that all this talk of Soviet Russia is nothing but preparation for a possible showdown with the United States."

Adenauer reiterated the Germans never will accept as a permanent frontier the Oder-Neisse line which handed over huge tracts of German territory to Poland.

However, Adenauer emphasized they would not think of using war to recover these territories but counted on doing so by negotiating with a free non-Communist Poland some time in the future.

Adenauer flatly denied he ever had proposed a German-Polish "condominium" over this area.

The chancellor confirmed officially he personally plans to drop the office of foreign minister as soon as the treaties with the West are ratified and indicated the job would go to Heinrich Von Brentano, floor leader of his Christian Democrat Party in the Bundestag (lower house of parliament).

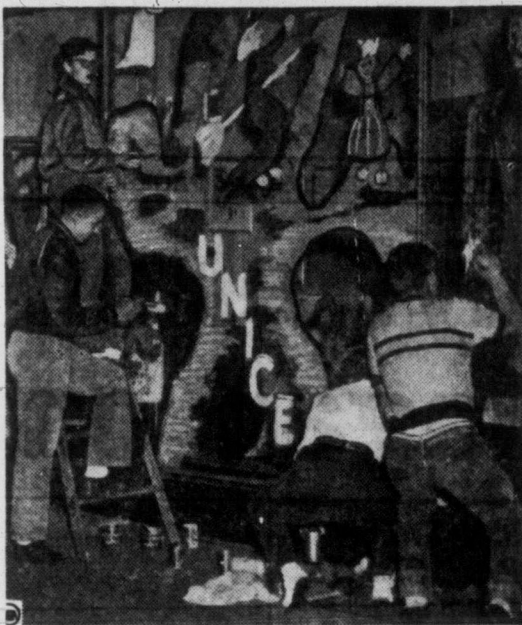

Adenauer said Theodor Blank, his present defense chief, would be made defense minister as soon as ratification is completed.

New Hallowe'en Trick Takes 'Treat' to Needy

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEW YORK — The hallowed Halloween cry of "trick or treat" will ring out as usual this October 31, but in many U.S. towns and cities it will have a less ominous sound.

Instead of overturned garbage pails and paint-spattered fences, Hallowe'en symbol in hundreds of places this year will be food for starving children. UNICEF — the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund — has been promoting the idea, and this year about 1,000 communities will participate.

The scheme is for the children to don their witches' costumes and high-heeled shoes just like always, but to add NICEF arm-bands to the usual Halloween outfit. Then, carrying empty milk containers symbolizing aid to hungry children, they ring doorbells with customary gusto — but all the proceeds (except gumdrops and apples) go to UNICEF.

Last year, asking for "treats" for underprivileged children around the world, American youngsters in 500 communities in 41 states collected more than $32,000. Contributions ranged from 48 cents, sent in by two small boys in Rockville Centre, N.Y., to $776 from Nashville, Tenn.

31 Ontario Teen-Agers Charged

CHATHAM, Ont. (BUP)—Twenty seven youths and four juveniles went on trial here today on 44 charges ranging from indecent assault to theft of a chicken arising from an all-night high school party.

Crown Attorney A. D. Bell said the teen-age spree was a "frightful, sordid affair" that involved "sex, drinking and vandalism." He refused to reveal the names of any of the persons involved.

The party at the home of a prominent Tupperville farmer, who was away for the weekend, lasted from the night of Friday, October 2 to late the next night. Most of the participants were from prominent farm homes in this rich agricultural district.

Police said some of the party guests indulged in a "baseball game" with eggs. One guest brought a calf into the house to romp over the furniture. Another cut the head off a chicken and splattered the house with blood.

After liquor was brought in, investigators said, the party took such a disgraceful turn they could not reveal what went on.

The charges included wilful damage, indecent assault, contributing to juvenile delinquency, theft of gasoline, consumption of liquor by minors, consuming in a public place, supplying minors with liquor, theft of a chicken and incorrigibility.

SOCREDS CUT B.C. DEBT $34 MILLION—BENNETT

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C.'s Social Credit government has reduced the provincial debt by $34,000,000 in its first 15 months in office, Premier W. A. C. Bennett said Wednesday evening.

"Before we formed a government the Liberals proposed to borrow another $28,000,000," he said. "We have not borrowed a single penny and yet have managed to reduce the $191,000,000 debt by a sizeable sum," he said.

The premier was speaking at the annual meeting of the Social Credit League Women's Auxiliary. Main convention sessions opened today.

Tory Leader to Run In City By-Election

No Empty Gesture, Says Deane Finlayson, Opposes Socred Government on Principle

Deane Finlayson, Progressive Conservative leader, stepped into the Victoria by-election battlefield Wednesday night, vowing to wage a fierce political campaign against the threat of a Social Credit dictatorship government.

Mr. Finlayson was nominated unanimously at the annual meeting of the Victoria Progressive Conservative Association in Williams Hall to contest the Legislative seat which Socred Percy Wright gave up Monday so that Finance Minister Einar Gunderson might reach the Legislature.

He is the first candidate to be nominated by one of the opposition parties for the by-election. The Liberal and CCF parties have yet to name their candidates.

Amidst cheers from an audience which numbered close to 100, Mr. Finlayson threw down the gauntlet to the Social Credit government, calling upon it to show what beneficial legislation it had passed in the last session of the House.

NO BETTER OFF
"The people of British Columbia are no better off than they were before," he said. "The government has failed to reduce taxation and to carry out its promises."

Defeated in Oak Bay in the provincial elections in June and at Nanaimo in the federal elections in August, Mr. Finlayson said he was not going to let "defeats" deter him from entering the campaign against the Social Credit government.

"I'm entering this campaign on principle," he said. "I'm running in this by-election because I believe there is a critical need in the provincial government today for a strong, vociferous opposition."

He said the need for a strong opposition in the House had been "accentuated" by the Social Credit attitude at the last session of the Legislature.

Mr. Finlayson said there was "a clear-cut tendency toward the pressure type of administration."

Bogey Stories Okay for Kiddies, Says Psychiatrist

TORONTO (CP)—A psychiatrist testified Wednesday that there is nothing wrong with telling children about Santa Claus, "illies" or bogey stories.

Dr. Robert G. Armour said it would be all right to tell a child bogey stories provided they were told as a joke and not as a threat. He added children are amused by fanciful stories.

He was testifying in an action over custody of the two children of Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Gibson of Hamilton. Both parents claim custody of the two boys, John, 4, and David, 2. Mrs. Gibson is asking $50 a month maintenance for each and interim alimony of $25 a week.

Mr. Gibson is a son of Mr. Justice C. W. G. Gibson of the Ontario court of appeal who testified earlier on behalf of his son.

Wildcat Strike Threatens Gas Famine in London

LONDON (AP)—London's busy motor traffic moved toward a shutdown today in the face of a growing gasline famine caused by a wildcat strike of 2,600 tank-truck drivers.

As the strike went into its fourth day, officials of the state-owned London transport system said its buses would soon be stalled; garages hung "sold out" signs on their gasline pumps, and there was a noticeable slackening of taxi services.

A spokesman for the British Automobile Association gave this gloomy picture:

"London, for all practical purposes, is without petrol. We are rationing hundreds of stranded motorists to a gallon apiece so they can get home or go to a garage outside the affected area."

Major Shot After Poison Failed OSS Trial Judge in Italy Hears

NOVARA, Italy (UP)—A manufacturer of tin cans was expected to explain today how an Italian partisan obtained the poison which he allegedly put in the soup of the late Maj. William V. Holohan in an unsuccessful attempt to murder the OSS officer.

Ubaldo Piazza, the factory owner, was one of more than 20 witnesses scheduled to testify in the trial of former OSS 1st Lt. Aldo Icardi of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Sgt. Carl G. Lodolce of Rochester, N.Y. They are being tried in absentia along with three Italian partisans, who are present for the murder of Holohan, commander of a cloak-and-dagger mission behind enemy lines in the Second World War.

Giuseppe Mannini, one of the three partisans, allegedly obtained the potassium cyanide he from Piazza's can factory.

Lodolce was accused of shooting the major to death after Mannini and Gualtiero Tozzini, another of the defendants, poisoned Holohan's soup. Put in Holohan's soup in 1944, the "Chrysler Mission" headed by Holohan when it parachuted behind Nazi-Fascist lines in Northern Italy. The defense expected to testify about the sums of money in the possession of the figure at $100,000.

Mountains of Wheat, Cotton

AMONG THE UNWANTED POSSESSIONS of the United States Government is a mountain of unsold cotton. The Government has bought it from the farmers at high prices but cannot sell it in the world market, where prices are much lower. As a result, the huge cotton industry of the southern states, which largely supported them for some two centuries, is making rapid strides towards suicide.

The extraordinary fact is that in the present year the United States will export about half as much cotton as it exported in the depth of the great depression. Yet the production and use of cotton throughout the world has risen greatly during a general boom.

Since American cotton cannot be sold at its present prices, foreign producers have taken over most of the United States' former markets. The American cotton producers, like the wheat farmers, will have to cut down their production, even though the world is hungry for wheat and cotton. Even the Mad Hatter never reached such dizzy heights of economic inspiration.

Cotton cannot be grown in Canada. The disaster of the American cotton industry, therefore, may seem far removed from our concerns. But it should teach us a vital lesson right here at home.

Canada's granaries are bursting with unsold wheat. Our carry-over from last year's crop is above normal. Lately a heavy new crop has been added to the store. How is our mountain of wheat, like the cotton mountain of the south, to be sold?

Assuredly it will not be sold if we will not sell it at the price that the world is willing to pay.

We tried to rig the world price early in the thirties, we refused to sell at the going price, we held our wheat, gambling on a higher price, and we lost the gamble, with gigantic damage to the farmers and the public treasury.

Is the Canadian Wheat Board, which sells every bushel of export wheat, to repeat that gamble today, trusting the taxpayers to bear the losses of the farmers? Does it still imagine that Canada, or all the nations of the International Wheat Agreement combined, can permanently control the world market? All past experience denies that assumption. Must we, like the cotton farmers, learn that old lesson again the hard way, by deliberately losing our foreign markets?

The same world factors which govern the price of cotton and wheat will govern all our great exporting industries. If, by raising their production costs, they cannot sell at the world market they will not be able to sell at all. Unfortunately that simple fact has yet to be grasped by many of our industrialists and labor unions.

The Wine Drinkers

NOT LONG HENCE WINE, FOR the first time since prohibition, will be introduced into the eating places of British Columbia. But what kind of wine?

If it is to be only the expensive wine of Europe—purchasable for some fifty cents a half in France and sold here for several dollars—not much will be drunk. And if the Government is serious in wishing to change the public taste from hard liquor to less intoxicating beverages it must provide them at a cost which the public will pay.

One obvious move, delayed far too long already, is to admit low-priced California wines to British Columbia. The matter was dealt with by the Stevens enquiry commission which laid the groundwork for the new legislation. The report urged that public demand and federal tariff requirements be the only factors in deciding whether or not to import foreign wines, and not the "inhibitions" of the Liquor Control Board. Both these factors are favorable in this case. Surely the Government, accepting the rest of the Stevens report, does not intend to ignore this recommendation?

One reason and one reason only has kept American wines out of British Columbia. Our Governments, contrary to the spirit and probably to the letter of our existing trade agreement, have excluded these products to protect a few local wine industries.

For this the Bennett Government is not in the least responsible. It is the fault of former Governments. The question now is whether a policy of restricting not only trade but the rights of liquor consumers is to be continued, despite the finding of the Stevens commission to the contrary. The restaurant owners who receive wine and beer licenses should be able to secure any kind of beer and wine their customers desire. If they must buy it from the Government—at retail prices which no doubt will be doubled by the time they reach the customer—the Government should stock every variety for which there is a demand.

Mr. Bennett says with commendable candor that personally he is opposed to the entire liquor system which he is now establishing but must obey the expressed will of the people. It is to be hoped he will apply that honest attitude to the question of wine and not attempt to tell the public what it may drink.

To Restore Senate Balance

THE DEATH OF SENATOR Donald MacLennan of Nova Scotia has drawn attention once again to the composition of Canada's Upper Chamber and to the manner in which appointments under continuous Liberal administrations have destroyed its balance.

Of its 102 seats, 81 are occupied by Liberals, eight by Progressive Conservatives and 13 are vacant.

That party division is lopsided. It defeats the purpose of providing representation for minority political groups and it lends support to the unenviable charge that the Upper Chamber has become an exclusive club for retired administration stalwarts.

Prime Minister St. Laurent has a golden opportunity to alter that lack of balance and to restore the Senate to a more respected status in the public's eye. He has delayed appointments to many of the vacancies. It is to be hoped he will act in the very near future not only to fill the seats, but to rectify the balance, including among new members both Conservatives and members of the CCF. Only with some of the latter and a greater proportion of the former can the Senate regain a representative national character.

Do Canadians Need a Guarantee of Common Rights?

THE recent decision of the Supreme Court of Canada in favor of the Jehovah's Witnesses touched on but left in doubt a major point of constitutional law affecting a much broader field than that involved directly in the Witnesses' appeal.

The closeness of the decision and the differing opinions even among the majority of the judges produced a judgment which fails to settle the question of whether the right to practice one's religion is a civil right, and hence under provincial jurisdiction, or a fundamental liberty inherent in a person's status as a resident or citizen of Canada. The essential problem raised by the Witnesses' appeal is therefore still open and must be decided at some future date as occasion demands.

FORBIDDEN DISTRIBUTION

The case of the Jehovah's Witnesses began in 1947 when Laurier Saumur, a member of that sect, sought to quash a by-law of the City of Quebec. The by-law said in part: "It is forbidden to distribute in the streets of Quebec City any book, pamphlet, booklet, circular, tract whatever without having previously obtained for so doing the written permission of the Chief of Police."

Saumur claimed that the practice of his religion entailed the distribution of printed matter in the streets, just as other denominations depended on oral messages from their pulpits. The by-law thus prevented him from carrying out the form of worship enjoined by his sect.

Since others needed no permit to go to church he could not see why he needed one to disseminate his bible sermons in printed form.

The trial judge and the Quebec Court of Appeal both dismissed the case and it went recently to the Supreme Court which has now handed down its judgment.

GUARANTEED RIGHT

Mr. Saumur had argued that a statute of pre-confederation days, which by the BNA Act was automatically incorporated into provincial statutes, and a later and similar act of the Quebec Legislature, both guaranteed "the free exercise and enjoyment of religious profession and worship."

Four of the nine justices ruled that the city by-law did in effect abridge the rights and liberties of the Witnesses.

Mr. Justice Rand held that the city had exceeded its authority in passing such a sweeping regulation. He brought out the further important point that "what is proposed before us is that a newspaper, just as a religious, political, or other tract or handbill for the purposes of sale or distribution through use of the streets, can be placed under the uncontrolled discretion of a municipal officer; that is that the province, while permitting all others, could forbid a newspaper or any writing of a particular color from being so disposed of."

Like Mr. Justice Estey, he recalled that "from time immemorial" the streets have been used for the distribution of "The Bennett government," she stated, "is putting more taxes on liquor not for financial reasons but only to protect the people from their sinful appetites. If, says the government, we can't stop 'em drinkin' at least we can stop 'em enjoyin' it. The new tax in cocktail bars and night clubs will promote morality, you see, by keepin' the customer's mind off the music and the chorus gels and concentratin' it on the price and on the government, where it belongs. And anyway, says Gunderson, the tax will fall only on the sinners who, I'm 'appy to report as minister of finance, includes most of the population, or otherwise we'd go broke."

"The government's problem, you must admit, is very difficult and they 'ave my sympathy along with my money. The people voted for liquor, says the government, and tis our duty to give it to 'em, provided we make it as discouragin' and expensive as possible, fer their own good. But not too discouragin', not too expensive or they might go on the wagon and bust the treasury. A delicate balance must be struck fer fear, morality might lead to bankruptcy, which would be worse."

"SO," says the government, we must suppress the evil of drink, but not too much. We must take every possible measure to reduce the sale of liquor so long as it don't 'ave any effect. With one foot, says the government, we would crush this monster into the earth, but unfortunately the other foot is trapped in the trough of iniquity, so we can't move."

"And always loomin' over the government's 'ead is the 'ideous nightmare of public sobriety that could ruin the tax collections. But there's no real danger of that, you know, and the government is worryin' unnecessarily. The figures of the Liquor Board shows that we need 'ave no fear of temperance breakin' out, and the figures of the last election shows that the public won't break out either fer four years anyway."

"OH," says Bennett, with a public like this we don't need to worry about nothin' so long, of course, as we can make it ferget about Social Credit, same as we 'ave. Jest the same, we must take care lest Social Credit rears its ugly 'ead in the back benches that 'ave't yet learned the facts of life.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Mrs. Noggins Buys a Bottle

"And wot need, says Gunderson, 'ave we fer Social Credit so long as we can take a sixty-cent bottle of whisky and turn it into four dollars of honest revenue? Why, that beats all the gimmicks of Major Douglas and Solon Low all 'ollow. Maybe they could make money out of paper and ink but we can make it out of water, slightly colored, and that's far cheaper. I stand four-square fer economy, says Gunderson, so long as the people will buy the stuff. Yes, fer the first time I can see the virtues of Social Credit and begin to understand the policies we advocated in the election."

"IN any case, says Bennett, this is the best government the country's ever 'ad. It must be because it costs far more. The people can't expect a policy of strict economy without payin' fer it in taxes. Economy, like all good things, comes 'igh. Of course we promised to cut taxes and we've put 'em up but surely nobody in 'is senses expected anything different. I would 'ate to think we'd deceived anyone in the election, except the Social Crediters."

"Well, says Gunderson, I've racked my brains to think of something else to tax but if there's anything else left it escapes me fer the moment. Never mind, after my by-election is safely over, I'll 'ave another inspiration. There must be a vicious taxpayer-somewheres who still 'as a guilty nickel in 'is pocket, though 'tis difficult to imagine."

"BUT always remember, says Bennett, 'igh finance is too important to be trusted to the public which couldn't understand it, though I must say I was shocked and saddened at the 'unsuitable' spectacle of the Legislature actually demandin' to see the budget and presumin' to discuss the money it was spendin', as if that was any of its business. But I'm proud to say a courageous government instantly resisted this threat to democracy and closed up the 'ouse mighty quick before it 'ad time to get inquisitive. Wot they don't know won't 'urt 'em and democracy will be safe so long as it's strictly in our 'ands, no questions asked, and the alternative vote abolished on grounds of 'ighest principle to make sure Gunderson gets a seat."

"AND so," said Mrs. Noggins, getting off at the liquor store, "I'm layin' in a little supply early, fer by Christmas 'em Santa Clauses on the other side of the Causeway will probably 'ave thort up a new tax, all fer my own good, of course, but I'm too dumb to appreciate it."

PERCY AND THE CITY

I think that Percy Wright got a dirty deal from the City Hall. After being in their employ for 22½ years, they gave him the Mussolini treatment—shaka da hand, stab in da back.

Anyway my impression is that Percy will be much better off in the long run, while the whole City Council from the manager down will take a big drop in the estimation of a great many people.

FOR WHOM THE ROAD TOLLS

Are they going to equip 1934 automobiles with chariot wheels? Is this the 20th century or are we under Julius Caesar?

Any government which inaugurates highway tolls will be the laughing stock of the world. It would take us 50 years to live it down.

What it would do to tourist trade is not hard to imagine. They would not bother to write enquiring which roads were free and which were taxed. Or would they come here and hire guides to take them around the province on toll-free roads, avoiding those with tolls. Perhaps our publicity bureau would send out maps showing toll roads in one color, toll-free roads in another.

That is what we get for putting into office an entirely new government, at one time, whose parliamentary experience and political acumen is zero, or zero minus.

ONE LEADER TWO SLOGANS

—VICTORY—

If an old-timer, or the early Victorian as we might call him, at the turn of the century, had like Rip Van Winkle gone to sleep for 50 years and had awakened now, with what astonishment would he have looked around at conditions of life in Victoria today.

With the turn of the century, if the working man earned $15 a week he was well off. If he earned more he was rich. No lady was ever known to smoke a cigarette. Very few ladies ever did anything except look after the home or sit on plush-covered chairs, look pretty and wait for the bread winner to come home in the evening.

The fast dwindling band of early Victorians can well remember the political life of the period. Sir Richard McBride and his dogmatic partner battling Bill Bowser of Vancouver. Nearly everyone was a Tory in those days or said he was. There were, of course, a few Liberals about but they seemed to keep quite quiet. The Legislature was composed of 40 Tories, two semi-Socialists and one Liberal.

It only needs brilliant leadership and a couple of good slogans for the Tory party to carry the flame of victory again through this pleasant land.

It does not do for the early Victorian to dwell too much on his memories but he cannot help sometimes remembering when there were no motor cars on the streets, no moving pictures, no votes for women, no income tax to pay, no Social Credit party, no C.C.F.

The nostalgic charm which these memories evoke soon passes like a tale that is told.

Makes It Hard to Figure Out the Next Play

Rearmament in Japan

BY JOSEPH ALSOP, from Tokyo

THE further you go in the Far East, the more impatient you become with the dollops of dangerously misleading drivel that are being handed out at home on the subject of the Far Eastern situation.

Take this country. Many months ago the United States was told that Japanese rearment was guaranteed by the famous peace treaty negotiated by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Most Americans who think about foreign affairs at all, already think of Japan as a strong point of the free world in the Far Pacific. Indeed the phrase, "Japanese bastion," has recently become a cliché.

The truth is altogether different. Japan is not a mess of rancid mush, like some other countries that could be mentioned. But Japan is not a bastion, either, and Japan will not be a bastion for so long that this kind of phony talk ought to be sternly ruled out at present.

To start with, wily old Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, with whom Secretary Dulles negotiated his treaty, does not really much like the idea of Japanese rearment. Like 95 per cent of the other political leaders of postwar Japan, Yoshida has acutely unhappy memories of Japanese militarism. Today he finds it hard to conceive of Japanese armed forces genuinely subject to civilian control.

By the same token, Yoshida cannot even begin to think about the kind of Japanese rearment which would safeguard these islands from the local power of the Soviet Union. That is a job for the United States, if only because Japan does not have the resources to do the job on the necessary scale.

As to China, Yoshida's imagination stretches no further than the imaginations of most other free world leaders. He quite obviously finds it hard to believe that China's vast ancient and resistant human mass will ever be transformed into a disciplined modern slave state. In particular, he really cannot believe that China, historically a military vacuum, is now being forged into a chief military power in the Far East.

Finally, Japan is in a terrible economic mess, threatened with runaway inflation and direly needing to balance her budget. Why Secretary Dulles, when he was last here, said the United States was having the same sort of trouble! (At this point the astute old man's eyes twinkle just a bit wickedly.) Well, the Americans, who are cutting their own military budget, ought to remember that the Jap problem is far worse!

This line of reasoning, which is fairly common among the leaders here in Tokyo, does not mean that there is going to be no Japanese rearment. But for some time to come, this attitude will determine the kind of rearment and the scope of rearment that Japan will attempt.

The national safety force that Japan possesses today is a beginning of sorts, but it is an odd military force. It comprises, over all, about 150,000 officers and men, organized in five divisions, well armed, well trained, and with good morale. But the pretense is still maintained that the sole task of the national safety force is to suppress internal disorder. Hence its entire staff is composed of civilians.

RENOUNCED ARMS

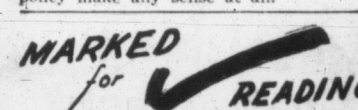

Before an effort can be launched to create a force of serious size, some way must be found to get over the hurdle of article nine of the Japanese Constitution. This is the article, grandiloquently inserted by General Douglas MacArthur, by which the Japanese renounced armaments in any form, even for purposes of self defense. Even the existing national safety force is a plain violation of this article.

Prime Minister Yoshida meanwhile says cheerfully that it will be a long time before constitutional changes can even be thought about. Maybe the pressure on the Japanese leaders will produce faster action. But the fact remains that Japanese rearment is not likely to make any serious improvement in the Asia power balance in less than four or five years.

That fact says much—and much that official Washington is not admitting—about the future American role here.

Even for the long run, the maximum self defense force the Japanese can build up will hardly be an adequate counter weight for something like 40 Soviet divisions in East Siberia, Sakhalin and the Kuriles, plus about 4,000 Soviet aircraft in East Siberia, plus the very large forces of the Chinese Communists.

But this second fact is no criticism of Japanese rearment, which Japan needs in order to regain a sense of standing on her own feet. It is a larger question rather, whether the broad lines of the present American Far Eastern policy make any sense at all.

NOT PRACTICAL
An eye for form and line is, of course, a very good thing. You see, if a thing looks right, it very probably is right. Though I can't say that applied where a designer was asked to draw an armored seat to protect the pilot and he filled it full of holes to save weight.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"I DIDN'T TELL 'EM THERE WAS A FIRE... I JUST ASKED IF THEY COULD COME OVER RIGHT AWAY."

Pirates and Plugs

AMONG my mail recently has been a series of letters from Gilbert and Sullivan fans who questioned my statement, in a recent column on the death of Darrell Fancourt, to the effect that this veteran star of the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company had made his name in the role of Koko in "The Mikado." My mistake was quite inadvertent, as I, too, have seen him many times in the role of the Mikado with another veteran, Martyn Green, as Koko — a part originally played by George Gross-Smith and, later, Sir Henry Lytton.

Nancy

Incidentally, interest in the Gilbert and Sullivan operettas must have been greatly stimulated by the troubled partnership of those two men who produced some of the most captivating entertainment ever heard. And I venture to suggest that the beautifully sung, tantalizingly brief excerpts from the operas will help swell the worldwide ranks of Gilbert and Sullivan fans.

SULLIVAN AND SOAP
One of my more ardent G. and S. fan- correspondents also gently takes issue with my references to the pirating of the famous melodies in commercial plugs on radio and TV programs originating in the United States since the 50-year-old copyright on Sullivan's music expired in November, 1950.

He writes that "there exists no international copyright with a great many of the operas, as far as the U.S. is concerned," and cites American publication of some of the scores as proof. That may be. But my authority was the London press, in which arose a great outcry at the end of 1950 over the suggestion that the then Labor government should "nationalize" the operas to prevent just such pirating. It was at that time stated that, while the Sullivan copyright was valid until 50 years after his death—or November, 1950—the copyright of the Gilbert librettos do not expire until May, 1961.

AMUSING ALLEN-ISM

The local writer also points out that, while he agrees with me that it would be desecration to parody the famous lines just to sell certain wares, there have been some very clever and amusing parodies which were enjoyable. In that class he places those by Fred Allen. I fully agree. I well recall that comedian's clever version of "The Mikado" broadcast over the air some years ago. Here is a sample of his parody of the Gilbertian lines:

"The day that I take over I'll clean up radio. I've got a little list, I've got a little list Of things that upset listeners. They never will be missed.

There's those mournful serial programs with their tragedy and strife, Where someone's always dropping dead or always facing life. And those early morning comics who will surely drive you 'bats.'

Who pin orchids on old ladies and put on women's hats. And those weddings on the radio where the bride is always kissed— They never will be missed, they never will be missed.

And those round table discussions with their boring dull debaters; And the housewives who are morons but yet win refrigerators;

And those gruesome mystery programs with their terrifying plots; You hear three words of dialogue—the rest is shrieks and shots;

And those hillbilly ensembles who insist on murdering Liszt— They never will be missed, they never will be missed."

Pooling the Allies' Knowledge

A PLEA for a greater pooling of research knowledge in the field of aircraft design and development was voiced here by top British aeronautical engineers recently. They urged that the United Kingdom, United States and Canadian engineers work closely together pooling the knowledge they gain from research.

Mackie

Such co-operation would yield tremendous returns and speed up the development of new types of aircraft to be used for the defense of the free world.

There were many specialized fields, too, where design and development could be turned over to one country. An example was the development in Canada of a type of guided missile. This project is in the experimental stage and the work was being done in Canada in co-operation with the United States and the United Kingdom.

The British aviation experts have been touring major air centres in the United States and they visited aircraft establishments in Canada as well as conferring with defence authorities in Canada's capital. Sir Roy Dobson, managing director of A. V. Roe and Company, and spokesman for the group which included a number of the world's leading aeronautical research and design specialists, said that Canada leads the world in the design of very advanced military aircraft now in the drawing board stage.

The experts would venture no opinion as to when the advanced Canadian design would come off the drawing boards and be put into production. They pointed out that it depended upon government orders but stressed that the Canadian design was ahead of anything they had seen.

Pressed as to whether the Canadian design was similar to what has become popularly known as the "flying saucer" Sir Roy shook his head and said he wished newspapermen would forget about "flying saucers." He said he could not disclose the form of the new design now on Canadian drawing boards.

The specialists expressed admiration for the Canadian-designed and Canadian-built CF-100 long-range interceptor jet. They described it as the best aircraft of its type in the world. It was an example of the advanced type of aircraft the relatively new Canadian aircraft industry was capable of turning out in large quantities. It would be possible if necessary to double and even triple the production of the CF-100's at the Malton plant of Avro.

During their talks in Washington the CF-100 came under discussion. The British group believed there was a possibility that the United States might purchase CF-100's, not for the American Air Force but to equip other NATO powers. They said that it was unlikely the Americans would buy the Canadian aircraft for their own forces because the U.S. aircraft industry "would object" to the equipping of the U.S. Air Force with Canadian-designed and built planes.

They did not criticize this attitude as they said a similar attitude would probably be encountered in the United Kingdom if the British began purchasing U.S. designed aircraft in large numbers for the British air force.

Canadians were among the forefront in designing and building jet engines in the opinion of the British experts. Deliveries of Canadian-designed and built Orenda jet engines are now running into four figures according to their information.

The group stressed to members of the parliamentary press gallery at a press conference that one of the main purposes of their visit to this continent was to advocate a great pooling of research activities in the field of aviation.

IN HOLLYWOOD

Oscar Winner on Spot

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Shirley Booth, the incumbent Oscar winner, is before the cameras for her second picture—but not as the sloppy housewife of "Come Back Little Sheba."

BOB

When I saw her on the set of "About Mrs. Leslie," she was dolled up in a handsome suit and fancy hairdo. She plays a Beverly Hills boarding house operator who has a lengthy affair with a government official, Robert Ryan. She gets the full glamour treatment in the film, with 33 costume changes, including a negligee.

Winning the Oscar in her first picture has put her on a spot, Miss Booth commented. "Will the public want to see me in a different sort of a role," she asked, admitting that she herself didn't know. But she added that she thinks the success of "Sheba" was a healthy sign.

"I had never entertained the notion of doing pictures," she said, "because I was only interested in doing character roles. They have never seemed to worry much about character parts in the movies, although that is what make the English and French pictures so great."

Obviously favoring the stage, she indicated she wouldn't settle down to a movie career exclusively.

"I like California when I'm out here," she reported, "but I just bought a new home on Cape Cod, and I want to get some time there. I like the stage, and I'm not easy to cast for pictures."

"Besides, I'm not one of those people who have to act to live. I suppose I felt that way when I was younger. Now I like it when I'm playing an interesting character and can make it grow."

"But if I weren't acting, I would not miss it. I could have a wonderful time putting around and painting, either rooms or canvases."

PRAIRIE ROUND-UP

Record Heat Wave Makes Bears Forget About Hibernating

WINNIPEG, Man. (BUP)—Everyone talked about the weather today as the Canadian prairies sweltered in the hottest October in history.

Flowers were blooming, grass was as green as in July, wild bush animals were reported romping about in many regions, and temperatures reached close to 80.

Winnipeg Wednesday was warmer than many times during the summer. The temperature here soared up to 78.2, which surpassed the old mark of 77 degrees for the date. Four weather records were set in the last two weeks.

Forecasters said a sharp downfall in temperature would come in the next two days, and temperatures would slide to around 45 degrees—still 15 degrees above normal.

John A. Cormack, local game conservator, said the sudden coming of cool fall air "would surely come as a surprise to some bears and other type of animals who have apparently forgotten all about hibernating."

Narcotic Traffic in B.C. Prison Defeats Warden, Addict Declares

Despite strict surveillance by prison officials, drug sales among prisoners in Oakalla is common practice, a self-admitted drug addict told Judge J. B. Clearhue in County Court Wednesday.

Polishes as it Cleans!

Dennis Charles O'Brien, 28, of 713 Pembroke Street, facing a charge of being a habitual criminal, told the court that drugs are smuggled into the prison and distributed among addicts.

George Gregory, acting as crown counsel, asked the accused if the warden of the prison tries to stop the sale of drugs.

O'Brien replied, "He tries."

Judge Clearhue reserved judgment in O'Brien's case until next Tuesday after the accused had given evidence before the court.

SENTENCED EARLIER

Earlier this week, O'Brien was sentenced by Mr. Justice H. S. Wood in Assize Court to two years and six months and fined $200 for possession of narcotics. The accused's companion, 18-year-old Lenora Watson, is serving six months' imprisonment for the same offense.

O'Brien and the young girl also a user of drugs, were accused of possessing heroin in their room at a Government Street lodging house. Several capsules of heroin were found hidden behind a chest of drawers.

The habitual criminal charge was laid against O'Brien after he pleaded guilty in County Court last week to another charge of possessing narcotics. Over 100 capsules of heroin were found on his person by RCMP officers.

The accused was called to the witness stand by his lawyer, G. V. Pelton, of Vancouver, to give evidence in his own defense.

O'Brien, nattily dressed in a blue blazer and white shirt, confessed that he took drugs. He said the 100 capsules of heroin found in his person were for his own use.

Stating that he got the drugs in Vancouver, the accused said a Vancouver addict can get his supply at a number of places, but in Victoria an addict "must travel across to make a buy."

While being questioned by his counsel, O'Brien said that it was possible for him to "kick" the habit in 30 days.

"I was taking six capsules a day at the time of my arrest on Sept. 6," he said. "They are only six per cent heroin each, not six grains as some people believe," he said.

He denied selling drugs to Lenora Watson, but said he gave her some heroin as she was also a drug addict.

Mr. Pelton in his plea on behalf of the accused said the habitual criminal charge was not written for addicts, whose only desire was to satisfy the craving for more drugs.

"Taking drugs is no crime; it is the selling of drugs that must be stopped," he said.

The lawyer said law enforcement officers will never clean up the drug situation by arrests and convictions. "There must be more help for the addict," he said.

Six Teachers Quit Victoria Schools; Four Appointed

Resignation of six teachers was reported to the School Board Tuesday night. They were:

Mrs. N. E. Graham, Esquimalt High, home economics; Mrs. J. S. McMinn, mental health co-ordinator; Mrs. Joan Adie, Willows, grade four; Miss Isobel Marchmont, physical education, and Miss Frances Morris, English, Mount View High; and L. J. Wallace, Victoria High.

Appointments approved were: Miss Betty A. Glasford, Esquimalt High; home economics; Robert G. Machan, Esquimalt High, commercial subjects; W. H. Hughes, Victoria High; and Mrs. A. O. Garra, Tolmie.

School Site Prices 'Look Too Costly' Gibbs Maintains

Cost of school sites listed in the recently published Victoria School Board No. 2 building program, which comes before the voters next month, held up council approval of the estimates at Oak Bay Wednesday.

"They look costly," said Reeve P. A. Gibbs. "There is much variation in values."

Reading down the list of five proposed new school buildings, he put oral exclamation marks behind several items.

"Marigold Elementary School... $28,000... a 14-acre site at $2,000 an acre. Two lots for an addition to Fairview Technical School at Vining and North Park for $15,000," he read.

"There are houses on the lots," said Mr. J. V. Johnson.

He asked council to take the estimates under consideration until next meeting.

"We will have to approve or disapprove before the school board can take further action," he said.

The new school building program totals $3,410,700.

20-DEATH BUS CRASH DRIVER ACQUITTED

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP)—Lorne Chesebrough of Kingston, Ont., the 28-year-old driver of a bus which took 20 persons to their death July 31 in the Williamsburg canal, was acquitted Wednesday of a charge of dangerous driving.

Judge G. E. Brennan freed the Colonial Coach Lines' employee following a motion for acquittal submitted by defense counsel.

Crown Attorney R. P. Milligan admitted that the stalled unlighted truck which the bus struck before plunging into the canal three miles west of Morrisburg was a "menace to the highway."

Judge Brennan said there was no evidence of negligence on the part of Chesebrough.

RCMP Deny 'Brutality' in Handling Douks

NELSON (BUP)—Official sources today denied Sons of Freedom Doukhobor charges of police "brutality" during the arrest of 144 sect members at Perry's Siding last month.

The charges, published in an advertisement in the newspaper here Wednesday, said that police attacked Freedomites in the tent village without "a word of warning."

Inspector J. B. Harris, commanding officer of the RCMP detachment here, said that statements that police "violently attacked the group with blackjacks" and "struck men and women into unconsciousness" were "utterly false."

Dr. N. E. Morrison, who was summoned to the tent village at the request of the police, examined the persons who claimed to be injured. He said that those claiming injury were all women and were "in a high state of excitement and hysterical."

He said he found no serious injury open to a charge of assault in which would appear to have been caused by a light flat instrument such as a strap.

Witnesses of the arrest said that a "mob of women, crying and screaming at officers, attacked members of the RCMP. The men were forced to use their riding crops to protect themselves and to ward off the hysterical mass."

Inspector Harris said that such actions left the Sons of Freedom open to a charge of assault in obstructing police in the execution of their duty.

Trustees to Publicize School Building Plan

Ratepayers to Hear All Details of Program To Be Carried Out Under $3,410,700 By-Law

Ratepayers of Greater Victoria will know all about the $3,410,700 school building bylaw before it is submitted at the polls in December.

What they describe as a "concentrated program of publicity" has been initiated by the board of school trustees to place the facts of the school accommodation situation before the public.

Virtually all media of propaganda will be used by the board—newspaper and radio advertising, billboards and leaflets—while parent-teacher associations and individual teachers will co-operate in selling the by-law to the taxpayer.

Trustees and school board officials have already addressed some service clubs and other groups in the district, and before the campaign is over approximately 14 other organizations will hear the merits of the program advanced.

Details of the campaign were submitted to the board Wednesday night by the public relations committee under Mrs. W. W. McGill and were approved.

School attendance figures, submitted earlier by the education committee pointed up the need for drastic action on the building program.

An increase in enrolment of 954 from September, 1952, to September, 1953, was reported.

First Annacis Island Plants Ready in '54

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—Warren Kennedy, engineer in charge of the Annacis Island industrial development, said Wednesday the first factories will be completed by this time next year at the Fraser river site.

However, Mr. Kennedy said the Annacis development, being carried out by the Duke of Westminster's estate, is "so big it will not be completed in a single generation."

PAMPHLET WILL EXPLAIN REPORT CARDS

Because of complaints from parents who say they have had difficulty understanding the school report cards their children bring home, the department of education has prepared a pamphlet explaining the meaning of symbols used.

The department is now distributing the pamphlets to schools throughout the province. They will appear in the current year which come out in November. They will go in report cards used in Grades 1 to 12.

Doukhobor Children Contented In Welfare Homes, Officer Claims

NELSON (CP)—Parents of Doukhobor children now in charge of the provincial welfare branch, "have no grounds for complaint," R. Talbot, deputy superintendent of child welfare for British Columbia, said at New Denver, B.C., Wednesday.

The children are happy, well-fed and are given every opportunity to see relatives on visiting days, Wednesday and Sunday.

"All parents we've talked to are well satisfied with the treatment their children are receiving," Mr. Talbot said. A graduate nurse is on duty from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and is aided in her duties by an assistant nurse. "They have everything they need," Mr. Talbot said. "We even go to the store and buy clothing for them if it is required."

The children are fed full Doukhobor diets prepared for them by Doukhobor women. Their meals consist of the usual Doukhobor borsch, fruit juices, vegetables and fresh and dried foods. "Anything they order, within reason, is bought for them," Mr. Talbot explained. "One father," the deputy superintendent said, "told me his child is better fed than ever before. They're a real healthy lot and play outdoors a great deal."

He said they "want to go home," but otherwise are "quite happy and contented. They would be a lot happier if the people would let them alone."

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

If you like your hockey in book form and at the same time would like to relive the past with some of the stars of a by-gone era, we've got news for you.

On the market at the present time is a publication of the nature mentioned above and one that should be recommended to all lovers of hockey—he they fans or players.

The title is a simple one and aptly named—"The Hockey Book" (McClelland and Stewart Limited, price $3.75).

Edited by Bill Roche who covered professional hockey in Toronto from the mid-nineteen-twenties until 1940, it contains the stories behind the news headlines by and of the more colorful characters of the game who made those headlines.

There is fodder aplenty here for the cracker-barrel league to munch on at will, and the human interest angle so vividly displayed makes it an absorbing history of hockey's life span of 50 years.

No book on hockey would be complete without a few yarns from Lester Patrick's scrapbook of memories and one of the best perhaps some old-timers hearabouts will recall.

The setting was in Seattle many years ago with the fabulous Mickey Ion as referee and central figure of the piece.

Mickey was being given a rough time by a rinks fan equipped with an over-sized megaphone. Finally Mickey could take it no longer. He stopped the game and demanded that the megaphone or the fan be removed.

Mickey Knee-Deep in Megaphones

But let Lester tell it:
"He sent the teams off the ice and actually leaned up against the boards while rink attendants were gently persuading the customer to give up his amplifying apparatus. Of course the fans were boiling mad, but Mickey won his point and then the game went on—after a 30-minute hold-up."

That's the first part of the yarn. The sequel also occurred in Seattle with Mickey again acting as referee.

"More than 6,000 fans crowded the rink. Just about every one of those fans was armed with a megaphone. But the 'Megs' were well hidden until the game started; then they were brought into action. You can imagine the noise they made."

"Ion stopped play at once and demanded the megaphones. 'I, as league president, had to interfere in an effort to break the deadlock.'

"Gosh, Mickey," I said to Ion, "you can't get all those megaphones. There must be 6,000 of them."

"I want those megaphones, or else there won't be any game," replied Ion.

"Finally after a long delay, the crowd was persuaded to give Mickey the megaphones. But they did it in their own sweet way."

"They threw them at him!"

"And there stood Ion on the ice, knee-deep in megaphones, but nonetheless victorious."

Another Ion yarn by Patrick concerns the time that Ion turned up at a game in Saskatoon with a cow-bell instead of a whistle.

Things progressed nicely until Ion became engaged in an argument with Saskatoon's Newsy Lalonde over a disputed Victoria goal, Ion brandishing the cow-bell and Lalonde his stick. It was then that Clem Loughlin, captain of the Victoria club, inquired mildly of Ion:

"Why are you using a bell tonight, Mickey? You've always had a whistle."

Ion ceased his scrap with Lalonde long enough to make a simple reply in a tone which inferred that Loughlin wasn't very bright.

"Hell, you can't wallop anybody with a little whistle," he said.

Duggan's Late Goal Gives Clippers Win

Merchants 8, Navy 0; Nanaimo 5, V's 4

By DENNY BOYD

You don't dare leave the Commercial Hockey League games early because, just like in a strip-tease act, the best part comes last.

There have been four games played in Victoria this far this season and three of them have been decided in the final minute of play, making up in drama what the games may lack in science.

It was the same story Wednesday night at Memorial Arena as Nanaimo Clippers remained undefeated and retained their grip on first place by nipping Dick Irving's fighting Victoria V's, 5-4. And, naturally, the Clippers chose the hard way, waiting until only 33 seconds remained between them and a 4-4 tie to fire their game-winning blast.

Arnie Duggan, he of lacrosse fame, was the hero.

Jarred heavily all night by an aggressive and effective Victoria defense, Duggan scored at 14:27 of the last period to send the V's down to defeat.

Bobo Takes Title, Randy Battered

Hawaiian-Born Olson Scores Unanimous Win

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Bobo Olson may not be the greatest middleweight boxing champion the world has seen, but the tattooed man from Hawaii will do until a better one comes along.

Bobo did a competent job on Randy Turpin of England in their 15-round showdown at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night. He did not score a knockout, but only because the man from Leamington Spa had a tremendous lot of heart when he was being badly punished in the closing rounds.

Turpin made a fight of it, and made no complaint of the unanimous verdict against him by two judges and the referee. He only said between battered lips that he believed he could have done better if he had been free mentally.

Exactly what Turpin meant by that is not clear. It is a matter of record, however, that the British pugilist has been having some sort of feminine trouble in his home country. After the fight he told a British writer that he thought he might have knocked Olson out within eight rounds if he had been "right."

Turpin won the first three rounds and then he took a wacking. The only other round which Randy was credited with was the eighth, wherein he belted Olson a right on the chops that staggered the new champ. However, Turpin was unable to follow up his advantage.

This particular observer saw it more or less as the officials did. We thought that Olson walloped the Briton by 10 rounds to four with one even—in other words, that Olson won the title going away.

SAANICH HOOP LEAGUE CATERS TO 33 TEAMS

A total of 33 teams have entered the Saanich and Suburban Basketball League and will be ready for action when the league schedule opens next Wednesday night at Cordova Bay Community Hall.

The Victoria Kins, who did not enter the city league this year, will be a member of the suburban circuit and hope to use Oak Bay Junior High School gym for their home games.

The league has four other senior teams, two from Brentwood, one from Sooke and the Chinese Students.

TIE RED WINGS

Leaf Rookies Growing Up

The suspicion is growing that Toronto Maple Leafs may have a hockey team this year.

Nudged out of the National Hockey League playoffs last season for one of the few occasions in their history, the Leafs are away with the leaders this fall. And there are indications that they may stay there.

There are few personnel changes from the fifth-place Leafs of last spring. But Conn Smythe's bumper crop of rookies is a year older, and a number of them show signs that they have a better idea of what it's all about.

In fighting the league-leading Detroit Red Wings to a 1-1 tie Wednesday night, Toronto showed promise of better things.

Trailing 1-0 after rookie Bill Dineen sank a 25-footer while they were a man short in the second period, the Leafs took command of play, bombarding Terry Sawchuk in the Detroit cage until he yielded the equalizer midway through the final frame.

And the tying goal by 19-year-old Eric Nesterenko was a gem. The Flin Flon, Man., youngster, who graduated from junior ranks less than a year ago, squeezed his shot between Sawchuk's pad and the goalpost on the short side. It was the only one of 32 drives to beat the great Detroit goalie all evening.

DANGEROUS TRIO

Harry Lumley stopped 20 shots at the other end, including some dangerous efforts by the top Detroit scoring threesome of Earl Reibel, Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay.

The result gave the Wings a clear two-point lead in the standings. The Leafs drew level with Montreal Canadiens in second place, but the Montrealers have a chance to tie for the lead tonight as they visit the winless Chicago Black Hawks. Boston Bruins take on New York Rangers in a battle for fourth place, currently held by the Bruins by a one-point margin.

Bears Whip Warriors

HERSEY, Pa. (AP)—Hershey Bears won their first American Hockey League game of the season by smothering Syracuse Warriors, 9-4, Wednesday night.

Dunc Fisher and Obie O'Brien each scored two goals for the winners. Other Hershey goals were by Arnie Kullman, George Sullivan, Lorne Ferguson, Don McKenney and Norm Corcoran. Syracuse scorers were Mike Narduzzi, Kelvin Burgett and Harry Pihlman, who racked up two for the losers.

Bombers Rally To Trip Royals

Seattle Scores Four Goals in Five Minutes To Share Third Place in Western Puck Loop

Seattle 5, New Westminster 4

The "garrison finish," polished to a bright lustre by New Westminster Royals, snapped back to them Wednesday night, leaving Royals on the short end of a 5-4 Western Hockey League battle with Seattle Bombers.

Garrison was the famed U.S. jockey who loved to hang back in the pack, then cut loose in the stretch to win in a charging finish.

Last Saturday, Royals spotted Edmonton Flyers four goals in the third period, then came on with four goals in four minutes to tie the visitors.

Wednesday night, New Westminster, again the host, took a 3-1 lead into the third period. The score stayed that way until the last five minutes, then five goals were scored—but this time, only one was by New Westminster.

GOOGAN GETS ONE

Sharpshooters for Bombers were Dave Wall with two, Fiori Goegan, Mark Marquess and Wayne Brown. New Westminster marksmen were Bobby Love with a pair, Pete Durham and Blinky Boyce.

The win moves Seattle into a third-place tie with the Saskatchewan Quakers. Vancouver Canucks still top the league with two points more than hard-playing Calgary Stampeders. Vancouver has played seven games, winning six and tying one. Calgary has played eight, winning five, losing two and tying one.

It was Seattle's third straight victory.

Tonight, only game scheduled is Saskatoon at Calgary. Seattle plays at Victoria Friday.

Bisons Win

BUFFALO (CP)—Buffalo Bisons knocked Providence Reds out of first place in the American Hockey League Wednesday night with a 7-2 victory.

Don Marshall, Gaye Stewart and Steve Wochy each scored twice for the Bisons. The other Buffalo tally was registered by Johnny McCormack.

Here's a Brave Man; Picks Sox Over Yanks

LEWISTON, Me. (UP)—Lantern-jawed Bill Carrigan, manager of the world champion Red Sox of 1915-16, today predicted the Yankees would be unseated from their perch atop the baseball world in 1954.

Carrigan, who celebrated his 70th birthday at his home here today, said a rejuvenated Ted Williams would lead the Boston club to the American League pennant next year.

"I think next year is the year for the Sox," the former Boston catcher and manager said. "Old age will catch up with the Yankees—it always does."

Carrigan, regarded as one of the "brainiest" catchers of his day, spoke highly of the "new look" of the young Red Sox squad but said the 35-year-old Williams would be the key to the Boston pennant drive.

"I can't see any reason why Ted shouldn't be as helpful next year as this past season," he said. "One thing about Ted

Factory Retreading Methods Give New Tire Performance Plus

One of the finest tire plants in Canada is now in operation under the management of Earl Darling at Victoria Tire Limited. The plant is equipped throughout with retreading and recapping equipment supplied by the Super Mold Corporation of Lodi, California, and is manned by a crew which is thoroughly trained in tire retreading.

Newest methods leave no part of the retreading to guesswork or chance. When the tire is brought into the plant it is inspected inside and out. This is done by placing it in a "spreader" where it is carefully examined for major flaws. If the tire is too badly damaged and cannot be retreaded successfully, it is rejected.

The tire which passes this examination is then accurately measured in order to insure proper selection of new tread stock, then it is buffed to form a rough surface for the laying of the new rubber.

At Victoria Tire Limited, only Goodyear factory methods are used. When buffing is completed, a layer of Goodyear vulcanizing cement is applied, then a heavy layer of new rubber is sealed to the tread portion of the tire. At this point, the diameter and over-all measurements of the tire are taken as a guide in adjusting the Lodi mold for proper tread width.

From these tire measurements and Lodi charts, the operator arrives at the exact mechanical adjustments required for accurate fit between mold and tire. The depth of the new tread determines the exact time and degree of heat necessary to vulcanize the new tread to the old. When it is removed from the mold, the tire has a new balanced tread which is equal to that of a new tire in performance.

Earl Darling of Victoria Tire points out that there are tens of thousands of sound tire casings now in use which will easily outlast one or more new treads which cushion and protect them. Since these casings are the most expensive part of the tire it is good economy to save them as long as possible. A retread saves from 40% to 60% of tire costs and is guaranteed to give new tire performance.

When should the retreading job be done? Just as soon as the old tread design begins to disappear. The tire becomes smooth and loses its grip. To try and squeeze the last few miles from tires, after they begin to lose their treads, means harder steering, rougher riding, invites punctures, cuts, bruises and blow-outs which will damage the valuable tire casing and may even be the cause of a tragic accident.

Advanced recapping methods produce a finished job which can hardly be distinguished from a new tire. Up-to-date tread designs include special treads for local climate and road conditions. Motorists who are familiar with the retreading processes are lengthening tire life and effecting much appreciated savings by taking advantage of this important service.

At Victoria Tire, the Lodi equipment can handle all sizes and types of passenger and truck tires including tires for all small and English cars... plus heavy logging and grader tires. Expert workmanship and finest tire rebuilding molds make it possible to guarantee the retreads to double the life of a tire.

A fleet inspection service is in operation which can be carried into any truck operation on Vancouver Island. This convenience is of major importance to Island industry and has been the means of substantial savings both in time and convenience to many large firms. Free tire inspection is always available to motorists at the local plant.

Victoria Tire Limited, Vancouver Island's largest and finest equipped retreading plant, is located at the corner of Government and Herald Streets in downtown Victoria.

Home-Built Roadster In Final Assembly

Instalment 7

Last week we finished attaching the front radius rods to the frame of the roadster under construction. Now we proceed to the next step.

Put on front axle and use it on blocks to support frame. Put radius rod ends against frame. Carefully square axle with frame and drill 1/8" holes near bottom of side rails. Put a washer on bolt, then a rubber bushing; insert bolt through radius rod, add another rubber washer, and nut; insert bolt end through frame until snug, add spring washer and second nut, and tighten firmly.

By a bit of reaming the Pontiac spindles will go on the model A axle.

As the Pontiac knuckle has no steering arm, bend a piece of 1/2" rod into an A shape, and make the ends parallel so they will fit the two top holes that hold the backing plate bolts. The ends are turned down and threaded to replace the bolts.

Rest Car on Blocks

The length of the A will be sufficient to just clear the spring perch on the axle. Weld a ball for the drag link in the small end of the A and on top.

With the front axle and wheels attached, let the car rest on these and place blocks at the back end so the frame has a slope forward equal to one inch in six feet. The rear axle goes under the spring, and the spring perches can be welded to it so that the holes in them are exactly the same distance apart as on the Model T.

With the pinion shaft parallel to the ground, bolt rear radius rods to backing plates, being careful not to get mixed up with the brake shoes. But of radius rod ends, weld on eyes, and attach as in picture published last week.

Hoist engine into frame and support it on 6" wooden blocks under the oil pan. Leave room in front of the engine to put the radiator between the fan pulley and cross member. Remove fan for the present as it will have to be made smaller.

Weight of Engine

Pry down on each side of frame with a crowbar to see how much frame goes down with weight of engine. Place a piece of 1/2" by 1 1/2" strap across in front and bolt Pontiac engine rubber mountings to it. At rear, hang brackets from frame to take regular Chev and Pontiac rubber mountings.

Bend a piece of 2" water pipe to go across frame at back of transmission and weld inside side members. Cut drive shaft to length close to end and weld.

Careless Parking Harmful to Tires

Avoid hitting the curb when parking, since the contact is hard on the tires and contributes to breaking down of sidewalls.

"Cramping" the wheels against the curb also is harmful, since it tends to throw wheels out of alignment, thus causing excessive wear and possible shimmy, weave, and definite lack of safety at higher speeds.

As the chassis is much narrower than the original, some difficulty will be experienced with the clutch and hydraulic brake setup, but it is obvious what has to be changed.

The complete hydraulic piping rig from the Pontiac can be used merely by shortening some tubes.

The fenders on the Model A will have to be raised and welded to the body to clear rear wheels. The front fenders are mounted on a tube under the frame at the lower end and on brackets (old Model T) at the front. This front brace, the headlights, and front bumper are all welded to a plate which bolts to front frame side member.

Cut Body to Shape

Fit a tube (1/2-inch water pipe) with a U-shaped bend across the frame to carry the floor. The U goes over the drive shaft. Cut five-ply same shape as Ford body for board behind seat.

Cut out five-ply boards, one each side of drive shaft, and rest back on them. Fasten with metal brackets bolted to each piece.

Weld doors into the body and cut to shape as in photograph. Cut off again near old location of hinges at back. Cut a slice about four inches wide out of cowl below dashboard to lower front half of body. Cut off along bottom and turn edge in to set on frame. Mark and cut a new shape at doors.

Lining of body is three-ply or "Kick Pad"—three-ply covered with a plastic cloth.

Austin seats are bolted to the floor. Now take a steering gear, preferably a Chrysler 70, Ross, or Graham of 1930-36. (Ross gears are excellent and high-gear.) Arrange it in position to suit driver, and cut a piece of 1/2-inch plate to bolt on outside the frame member to hold it in place. A strap-iron clip will hold the column to the instrument panel.

Aluminum Dashboard

This car is at K-M Auto Sales on Yates Street, and it might be possible for you to get a look at it for detail.

As you could see in the picture, the Pontiac bonnet was used and whittled down to suit. It lifts off in one piece.

An improvement to the model A dashboard can be made of polished aluminum buffed with a pencil eraser in a drill. Press lightly against surface and make marks in overlapping rows.

The windshield is from an Austin, but a model A type could be used.

For an improvement, cut off the end of the old 1930 steering gear and weld a piece of a column from an Austin A40 or Hillman. Use one of the spring-spoked wheels.

Slightly bent steering wheels often are obtainable and are easily pulled straight. Instruments will go in your new panel, but be careful with the speedometer cable where it crosses the floor. It is easily bent and should be protected with a metal shield.

Craftsmanship Outstanding in Rolls-Royce

By DON INGHAM
Times Automotive Editor

Rolls-Royce of England admit they are still trying to achieve the perfect automobile, inferring they have not yet reached their goal.

A ride in the Sedan-de-Ville at Thomas Plimley Ltd. will prove, though, that the long-lived firm has not far to go.

This car, with coachwork by H. J. Mulliner & Co. Ltd., gives travel at the peak of comfort and luxury with the assurance that every piece of the automobile—without exception—has been made of the finest materials available to the highest possible standards of craftsmanship.

PROVEN BY TIME

The "Rolls" falls into no classification. It can hardly be called handsome, but does justify being called handsome. There is nothing abnormal or advanced in its design, but everything within and without has been proven by time.

This big black car is sedate, dignified, functional, inconspicuous, and timeless.

Expert mechanics claim that a buyer used to owning expensive cars and trading them in every two or three years will pay out enough money to buy a Rolls-Royce in 12 years "and never have the pleasure of owning one."

DRIVER COMFORTABLE

The car for sale here is designed for chauffeur operation, but the chauffeur will be more comfortable than 99 per cent of other drivers in Victoria.

The rear seat is a luxurious little drawing room, with built-in cabinets, radio, jump seats, genuine wood, appointments, and again that fabulous attention to detail.

Out on the road the Rolls does not startle other motorists with its performance. The company says its engine is "adequate" to move the car at desired speeds, and makes no claims for superlative pickup and top speed. (Its RAC rating is 29.4 horsepower. By North American standards it would be almost 120.)

HIGH EFFICIENCY

Specifications describe a six-cylinder motor with 3 1/2" bore and 4 1/2" stroke, displacing 1,257 cubic centimetres (about 260 cubic inches). It has overhead inlet valves and side exhaust valves that give deeper breathing and higher efficiency.

Automatic transmissions are optional. Brakes are hydraulic in front and mechanical at the rear, with power-assisted application. Shock absorbers are instantly adjustable from a control on the steering wheel to give tight action for speed and softer action for slower travel around town.

Wheelbase is 127 inches.

Rolls-Royce automobiles do not wear out. One of the Plimley staff members told of Rolls-Royce cars bought at the outbreak of the First World War that were fitted with armor and machine guns and sent to battle. After the war they were used all over the world (one of Plimley's men saw some in Ireland when they were running as good as new) for training, or were stored.

EARN DISCHARGE

In 1939 they all went back into service, and in 1945 the company bought them back, modernized them, and sold them to private owners.

These particular cars can be seen in England today, indistinguishable from other Rolls except for a little silver plate on one side bearing the following inscription:

"Served in the First World War, 1914-1918; Second World War, 1939-1945; honorably discharged."

Apart from price, the Rolls-Royce is not made for everyone. It is not bought. It is taken into the family, given all the love and respect it deserves and given a new body every 15 years to keep its "dress" in style. It is designed for the discerning person who likes to buy fine things and keep them forever.

OTTAWA LOSES FIGHT TO KEEP NFB OFFICES

OTTAWA (BUP)—The government was expected today to move swiftly to call tenders for a new $5,000,000 National Film Board building in Montreal after deciding against an Ottawa appeal to keep the board's headquarters here.

The decision was made at a cabinet meeting Wednesday after the City of Ottawa offered land and a housing development valued at about $500,000 to keep the film board offices—and NFB employees—in Ottawa. Ottawa civic authorities criticized the government for trying to "denude" the capital of its citizens.

The decision to transfer the board to Montreal originally was made last year and approved by Parliament.

Army Pays Last Respects To Girl Murder Victim

BIENVILLE, Que. (BUP)—The army in which she served as a reserve sergeant paid last respects today to pretty Marie-Anne Carrier while Ontario police checked to see whether a woman's clothes found hidden in an attic were dumped there by her slayer.

What Lt.-Col. Gordon Ross, Miss Carrier's commanding officer, described as "all the military honors permitted" were featured in the funeral from St. Antoine de Bienville Church of the 22-year-old murder victim whose nude body was found in a ditch near Iroquois, Ont., a week today.

Some 30 members of a reserve unit in which the girl served part-time lined the steps of the tiny church while a funeral cortege moved slowly there from a nearby funeral parlor. A lone army bugler was assigned to stand by the grave to sound the sober notes of the "Last Post" and "Reveille."

Meanwhile, in Woodstock, Ont., police questioned a holiday cabin operator to see if he could identify a man who rented a cabin from him last week and apparently stuffed several articles of a woman's clothing into an attic there when he left. Police said the clothes might have belonged to Miss Carrier and had been left there by an assailant who knifed her to death.

Army Lieut. Peter Balcombe was held in a Cornwall jail for preliminary hearing next Wednesday on a charge that he murdered the tall, dark-haired Quebec girl because she refused to marry him. Balcombe, British-born father of two, was arraigned in a Cornwall court Wednesday and remanded for a week. Police had until then to produce enough evidence to warrant holding him for trial at the February assizes.

Court Ends New York Mayor's Election Bid

NEW YORK (UP)—A court order removing the name of Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri from the Nov. 3 election ballot assured New Yorkers today of getting a new mayor in 1954. Impellitteri was expected to withdraw formally as a candidate for re-election today in the face of a ruling by Supreme Court Judge William H. Munson that his nominating petitions contained an insufficient number of valid signatures.

The ruling shattered Impellitteri's hopes to run as an independent candidate as he did successfully in 1950. He could still stage a campaign for write-in votes, but political observers said there was virtually no chance he could win.

Four Quebec Children Die in Fire

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—The four children of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bradley were asphyxiated early today in a fire in their home here.

Mrs. Bradley, 35, is in critical condition in hospital suffering from effects of smoke. Mr. Bradley, a bread driver, was at work.

The victims were identified as David, 10 months; Robert, four; Barbara, five, and Keith, 10. The four children were found in their bedrooms.

Damage was confined to the living room where it is believed the fire started. Damage was not extensive.

First alarm was sounded by Mrs. Ken Wood, a neighbor, who heard a glass window break. Other neighbors tried to enter the house but found the doors locked.

Death Toll May Reach 100 in Italian Floods

REGGIO CALABRIA, Italy (AP)—Wild floodwaters swept across the toe of the Italian boot today and fears mounted that the final toll would pass 100.

By mid-afternoon 47 bodies—many of them children—already had been recovered.

Torrential rains, following tremendous cloudbursts, continued to hammer the poverty-stricken region, which had been devastated by other floods only last year.

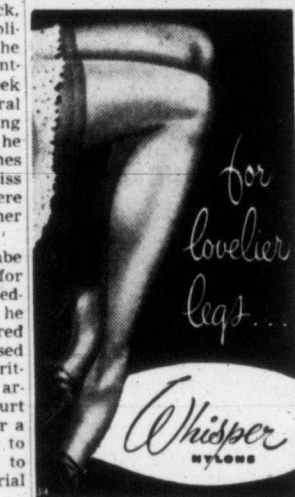

The region, on the toe of Italy, is known to many Canadians as the spot where, on the night of Sept. 23, 1943, the British Eighth Army launched an invasion of the Italian mainland with the 1st Canadian and 5th British Divisions.

The rains, together with surging waters which swept over agriculture field and into hamlets and towns, balked rescue operations.

The prefect of Reggio Calabria, capital of the region, issued a call for helicopters to aid in rescue operations.

Today's Youth Better Man, Says Professor

Young people of today are more conscientious and work harder than young people 25 years ago, Prof. E. D. McPhee, head of the department of commerce, UBC, said Wednesday night in addressing the Victoria branch, National Office Management Association.

To those who criticize the modern generation, Prof. McPhee's answer was that they will make better men than their fathers.

The professor devoted most of his talk on bringing co-ordination and efficiency into business. He stressed the importance of team spirit throughout an organization. He said co-ordination couldn't come just through setting up a department.

R. H. Heywood, association vice-president, introduced the speaker. Thanks were extended by G. A. A. Hebden, a past president.

Members of the club had their employers as guests for the evening.

'Poison Pen' Press Misleads People Bennett Tells Socreds

VANCOUVER (CP)—Premier W. A. C. Bennett said Wednesday night Social Credit will be the next government of Canada if the British Columbia party keeps its principles high.

"We must keep our principles high because all Canada is watching this government," he said. "We are the beacon and if we keep our ideals high, Social Credit will be the next government of Canada."

Mr. Bennett spoke to the women's auxiliaries to the Social Credit League of B.C. on the eve of the league's three-day convention here.

He said that "never has such a government done so much in 12 months."

"Yes, there has been criticism. There is still some, but the press would not be human if it changed overnight."

He criticized the "unjust, untrue criticism," saying 90 per cent of newspapermen stick to the truth, but that "there are those who will stop at nothing."

"It is these men with their poison pens who dare to mislead the nation against the sound principles of Social Credit.

"But don't become bitter over the press," he said. "They won't hurt us. Something not based on truth will die anyway."

The Socred leader declared himself opposed to additional liquor outlets and for the transferable vote.

"But it's the duty of a democratic government to carry out the people's wishes."

"The new liquor act," he said, "will cost more to police. Local governments will have additional costs so we gave them half the 10 per cent tax. We get 3 per cent now. The additional 2 per cent will not likely cover added costs. If there is any left over it will go for social services and education."

"The 10 per cent tax on mining and logging operations does not increase their costs. It's on the profit after $25,000, and the people are entitled to a fair return on their natural resources. The tax has been imposed painlessly, and if they say we are hurting B.C. it is political propaganda."

"We have reduced the tax on the individual by reducing Hospital, Insurance rates and increasing benefits. B.C.H.S. is in chaos when we took office. Now it is in the better financial shape than at any time in the history of the province."

Three in Custody After Woman Found Stabbed to Death

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP).—Mrs. Florence Ricker, 34, formerly of Moncton, N.B., was found dead Wednesday in a pool of blood. Police said she was apparently stabbed in the back during a mid-afternoon wine-drinking party.

Investigators took two other women and a man into custody for questioning. They said charges are pending but will probably be delayed until Thursday. Police seized a long-bladed butcher knife at the scene.

Mrs. Ricker came here from New Brunswick 10 years ago and was last employed by a radiator company, police said. She had been separated from her husband.

SCIENCE-FICTION COMING TRUE—SOLANDT

Industrial A-Power, Supersonic Flight Soon To Be Commonplace

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canada's top research scientist said today the present generation would see perfection of the jet engine, "commonplace" supersonic flights, and widespread use of atomic energy in industry.

Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of the defense research board, said the developments would come about soon because Canada had come of age in science. Ten years ago, he said, Canada's science structure was such that modern developments would have passed Canada by.

Solandt, who ranks with the chiefs of the army, navy and air forces staffs, told the Industrial Preparedness Association that Canada's actual and potential defensive strength had been "vastly increased" in the Second World War and the post-war years by bringing together the fields of fundamental research, basic research, applied research, and industrial design and development.

"The scientific community consists of a continuous spectrum of people who are obviously 'long-haired scientists' at one end and obviously very practical and I suppose 'hard-headed engineers' at the other end," he said.

Solandt said an example of the co-operation of government, research workers, and industry was the development of the air-to-air guided missile, now being developed for the RCAF at the Canadian armament research and development establishment, Valcartier, Que., the defense research board's major works.

RCAF officers first worked with research board scientists to determine how an air-to-air weapon might be integrated into the Canadian air defense weapons system, pointing to the kind of air-to-air weapon that might be suitable. Scientists and engineers then converted the military requirement into a detailed scientific and engineering study involving the missile, the launching aircraft, and the intended target. Industry was called in to contribute to the study and to prepare to manufacture early experimental components.

"This is a dramatic and effective example of the splendid team work that has been developed between the armed forces, the defense scientific service and industry," Solandt said. "However, it is only one of many such examples. If we can continue to foster this effective partnership we will be able to provide our armed forces with the most effective weapons system at the lowest possible cost."

EXCITING DAYS
Solandt said the present age was one of "very real excitement."

"We are seeing technological progress accelerated by a pace that vastly exceeds anything seen before. In the space of a relatively few years we have seen the introduction and will see the perfection of the jet engine. We will see supersonic flight becoming commonplace. We have seen the introduction of fission and of fusion atomic weapons (the A-Bomb and the H-Bomb), and we will see the widespread introduction of atomic power for industry."

Red-Dominated Union Congress New Cominform

WFTU Designated Propagating Agency

VIENNA (Reuters)—The Communist-sponsored World Federation of Trade Unions wound up its third congress Wednesday night after an 11-day session that leaves little doubt it will replace the Cominform as the chief co-ordinating agency for world Communism.

Speeches and reports made it clear, non-Communist observers believe, that the mass appeal of trade union solidarity is being prepared as the primary means of propagating Communism through the world.

The Cominform, established after the Second World War, linked Soviet satellite countries by the "Communist Information bureau."

FRANTIC CHEERS
More than 800 delegates from 79 countries, claiming to represent 88,600,000 workers, cheered frantically as the last session wound up with a fiery speech by the WFTU's Italian president, Giuseppe de Vittorio, African, Asian and Latin-American delegates threw paper in the air, waved colored handkerchiefs and scarves, then linked arms and clapped and chanted in rhythm for more than 20 minutes.

The keynote from the opening day was the same. It was drummed home in every speech, appeal, document and regulation: "Let us create a united front of workers of the world of genuine trade union interests, let us enlist the support of non-Communist workers in every workshop and factory and let them force their unions to join the WFTU. Let us win support from the artisan and middle classes and from peasants and intellectuals by supporting their demands and making ourselves their spokesmen."

INCIDENTAL FIND
NORTH SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Constable Dan MacKay of the RCMP was on a hunting patrol in nearby woods when he made a discovery. It was a truck that had been stolen some time previously.

Victoria Press Sells Interest in CJVI

A block of shares representing one-half interest in radio station CJVI has been purchased by William Guild, station manager, it was announced Wednesday night.

Shares were purchased from Victoria Press at an undisclosed price.

Under reorganization of the radio company, which was formed with Island Broadcasting Company 12 years ago, officers will be: J. M. Taylor, president; Mr. Guild, vice-president; H. R. Carlson, Calgary, and H. E. Pearson, Edmonton, directors.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Just wondering around:
Wonder why the Royal Canadian Navy's handsome and efficient fireboat didn't come to our fire on Monday? Could it be she wasn't invited?

Wonder what the Secords' reaction might be if Victoria refused to elect Mr. Gunderson on Nov. 24? Will they move the Legislative buildings to Kelowna?

Wonder why it is I can't get enthusiastic about two human beings battering each other with their fists, until one falls down? Guess I am not normal, like the 13,000 people who paid $150,000 for the privilege of seeing Randy Turpin get clobbered by Bobo Olson while they screamed for blood. Anybody's blood.

Wonder how much space you or I would get in the daily press if we went AWOL for 30 days? And if your boss or my boss would welcome either one of us back with open arms?

Wonder how long Percy Wright would stay on the job—if he did get his city hall job back—before moving on to greater things in the Social Credit regime?

Wonder when the first pre-Halloween fireworks casualty will be reported? Wonder if there will be a total ban on Halloween explosives NEXT year?

Wonder if anyone can tell me how to get rid of a cold on the chest without moving from this glorious climate?

Wonder if you've heard about the young lad who was taken to the Totem this week? It was his first look at "live" theatre, and after the performance, he was asked how he liked it. "Fine," he enthused. "The people came right out at you, like in 3-D."

Wonder how many people realize Victoria's Junior Football games are just as much fun to watch as anything in the Big Four or Western League? One thing about football, perfection of play isn't necessarily the criterion of spectator enjoyment. See a junior game, and there's always a chance you'll be able to say: "I knew him when" come some future Grey Cup day.

Wonder when the dog Punch will make up his mind whether or not he will enter the mayoralty race? Never knew him to be so coy before. Perhaps he feels the chain of office is too much like a leash.

Wonder how many people will remember, during Navy Week, that the atomic bomb hasn't eliminated the need for sea power. For instance, the giant aluminum plant at Kitimat would be shut down completely if the sea lanes were closed in time of war. The only raw material at Kitimat is hydro-electric power—everything else must be brought in by sea.

Wonder when we will get the first letter to the editor, decrying the cutting of trees for Christmas decorations?

And speaking of Christmas, which will be the first radio station to play "I'm Dreaming of a White" same?

Wonder how many readers who have stuck with me throughout these wonderings are wondering why? Thanks, anyway.

Simple Simon's sister Sarah worked in a cigar-store for a few days after leaving school. Having learned all about selling, from a little book on the magazine stand, she faced the next customer with confidence. "How much are those?" he asked, pointing to some cigars. "A cigar and a half per day and a half for a week and a half would cost a dollar and a half." Sarah answered, feeling sure she had aroused his interest. Fortunately for her, he laughed and bought a dollar's worth. How many cigars did he get?

Gerhardt Starshoj, 1190 Fort, was fined $35 and ordered not to drive except for business purposes for two months when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of careless driving. Court was told the accused went through a stop-sign at Fernwood and Yates recently and was in collision with another vehicle.

German-born Miss Britta Runge displays a small recorder, grand-daddy of the flute, on which she will give lessons to children and adult classes at the Arts Centre soon. "Anyone can play it," she says.

TOOTLES FIPPLE FLUTE

Schoolmarm Offers To Teach Old Skill

By PETE LOUDON

Ever wish you could learn to play a musical instrument without spending too much time or money?

Now is your chance.

According to a young school teacher who will shortly give classes on the recorder at the Arts Centre here, you too can be the life of the party.

Miss Britta Runge, a young North Ward grade four "schoolmarm," recently here from Germany, says she actually can have new students tooting tunes after as little as three weeks' instruction!

The recorder, sometimes called a Fipple flute or English flute, is an instrument dating back to the end of the 15th century.

LIKE CHAIR LEG

It looks like a chair leg with holes in it... but it sounds pleasing to the ear, even the untrained ear. Played softly, the neighbors won't hear it.

Made from pear and other woods, it has seven finger holes and a thumb hole at the back.

In the days of the great masters, Bach, Mozart, Handel, all music now played by the flute was written for the recorder.

"It is adaptable," says Miss Runge, "to the simple music of the great composers."

The recorder has enjoyed a revival in Europe since the years following the First World War. Simple and pleasant, it is especially useful as a "first instrument" for children.

If it develops later that the child has no talent then the parent is only out a minimum of $10 or $11. Compare that with piano lessons' costs.

IN FOUR RANGES

Miss Runge explains that the recorder comes in alto, soprano, tenor and bass ranges and she is prepared to launch her first class as soon as five people register at the Arts Centre. She would like a children's group first, but if enough adults apply she will start a senior class.

The young teacher is a converted violinist. When her family fled Eastern Germany following the Russian occupation she had to leave her fiddle behind.

The recorder was the only instrument she could afford at that time and she has been completely addicted to it ever since.

When she first arrived here 15 months ago, she played the recorder over CHUB, Nanaimo, for a season and later led a small group at Victoria Normal School.

Says Colin Graham, Arts Centre curator: "Miss Runge's classes might develop new interests at home for children."

Turn off the television, Dad. Flip out your fipple and floor them!

Tourist Traffic Record in Sight

B.C. is well on its way towards establishing a tourist traffic record this year, according to the department of trade and industry.

Over 700,000 visitors from the United States entered B.C. by automobile alone so far this year. Compared with tourist traffic for the same period last year, this represents a 7.9 per cent increase.

Total number of cars entering B.C. in September was 32,716, compared with 28, 203 in 1952.

STORM-LASHED SHIPS PLUMB DEPTHS TO SAFEGUARD SAILORS

Survey Fleet Rests While Cartographers Labor

Victorians who have been vaguely aware of something missing at the northwest end of Johnson Street bridge for the past six months found the picture complete again this morning.

The federal government hydrographic survey ships William J. Stewart and Parry were back at the department of transport dock after their annual charting of B.C. coastal waters.

With them is a newcomer to the survey fleet, Mv. Marabell, ex-private yacht, ex-U.S. Navy sweeper. The three ships returned Wednesday afternoon.

William J. Stewart, which with Parry sailed from Victoria, April 15, used Prince Rupert as her operational base, touching at Union Bay every six weeks for re-fueling.

Capt. George Billard reported steaming 10,000 "uneventful" miles, although he admitted encountering a great deal of dirty weather. Parry was on tidal survey duties at Okisillo Channel, near Quadra Island, and logged nearly as many miles as Stewart.

Marabell was assigned to Johnson Strait, and worked the area from early September.

All three ships spend the summer months taking soundings and fixing exact positions of reefs, rocks, and the peaks and valleys of the ocean floor.

Wright Status At City Hall Still Riddle

Ex-MLA's Old Job May Be Advertised

Percy Wright's status at city hall still remains a riddle. City Manager Cecil Wyatt, who is considering Wright's application for reinstatement as assistant city clerk, is continuing to give the matter study. He indicated today his decision won't come until early next week.

There have been no indications the City Hall Employees' Association's view of the matter might be a factor in determining the decision. The association has made no policy statement concerning the case but Roy Wootten, business agent for the group, spent considerable time with the manager this morning.

It has been pointed out that since the manager held that Mr. Wright quit when he walked off the job a month ago to attend a session of the B.C. Legislature, the union would be within its rights to demand that the vacant position be advertised if it is to be filled, and that persons within the civic service be given priority if no outsider applies who holds better qualifications.

SOUGHT NO HELP

Mr. Wright did not ask the union to take grievance proceedings on his behalf when he had the chance to do so.

He has said he will abide by whatever decision the manager makes, and will not appeal to City Council if it should be against him.

He has acknowledged that he has had offers of employment elsewhere should the city not want to take him back.

There have been many rumors that in appreciation of his resignation from the House to permit a by-election for Finance Minister Gunderson, the government has offered him a civil service post.

But Premier Bennett has said Mr. Wright has neither asked nor been offered a government job.

$35 Fine Follows Downtown Collision

Involved in a Fort-Pandora collision October 28, Cuyler H. Shanks, 2655 Dufferin, was fined $35 in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving. Court was told $300 damage was done to the Shanks' car and $75 to the other.

Community Chest total collection at noon was almost $20,000 ahead of last year's figure at the same date, officials said today.

Almost 67 per cent of the target, a sum of $140,220 has been turned in by canvassers.

Community Chest campaign chairman Courtney Haddock said that he will address employees of the Empress Hotel tonight in company with manager Tom Chester.

Miss Sara Spencer, chairman of the residential canvass which is being carried out by women's groups this year, says that the quota for her division is now more than 170 per cent subscribed.

Strike Threatening Power Cut-Off Here

Early Results Expected in Walkout Vote Among Local Electrical Workers

Results of a strike vote taken among B.C. Electric Company workers, that could of electrical services, will be made known tonight or Friday.

Linesmen and powerhouse employees in Victoria, Vancouver, and the Fraser Valley have completed their government-supervised strike vote, instituted after they turned down a conciliation board majority report in a wage dispute with the B.C.E.

Tabulation of the 600 votes cast in the three areas was scheduled to start late today.

The men's union, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, has given no indication of what services in Victoria will be maintained in the event of a strike, but a decision is expected this week.

DEPENDENTS

Hospitals, fire protection, police services, water supplies, and sewage disposal depend on electricity for operation, as well as a good many home-owners, apartment dwellers and hotels.

Schools, government buildings, office buildings, stores, and industries would find "business as usual" difficult if not impossible without electricity.

All need light, and electricity is a vital factor in the running of many heating plants.

Without street lights and traffic signals downtown city streets could become a shambles.

Telephones, telegraphs and the teletypes that provide newspapers with their foreign news also depend upon electrical power.

BACK TO LAMPS

In the home, wood heaters, kerosene lamps, coal stoves and sing-songs around the piano would replace the usual service and entertainment provided by electrical power.

Vancouver union business agent George Gee said linesmen, in the event of a strike, will "co-operate fully" with the B.C.E. to keep essential city services and household electric supplies operating.

"We have no desire to inconvenience the general public. If the company will co-operate we will see that enough men are working to maintain household electricity and essential services such as fire calls, police and hospitals," Mr. Gee said.

The union originally sought a 10 per cent wage boost and major fringe concessions, but the majority report of the conciliation board rejected all union demands that would have increased company costs.

$140,220 Chest Total Beats Last Year Pace

Red Feather Workers Confident Of Target Within Next Few Days

Community Chest total collection at noon was almost $20,000 ahead of last year's figure at the same date, officials said today.

Big Jump Seen In Television Sales Here

One home in every 12 or 13 on lower Vancouver Island has a television set, a survey of the trade revealed today.

Sales here used to average about 100 per month, but in recent weeks they have jumped to close to 140 per month, according to figures kept by appliance dealers.

There are actually about 2,000 sets in use in Greater Victoria, a larger number per capita than the 9,000 in Vancouver.

Interest of televisioners now is centred in the arrival on the airwaves of the new KOMO-TV, transmitter from Seattle, and operation of KING-TV's new 100,000-watt transmitter now under construction.

VANCOUVER STATION

Right on the heels of the Seattle broadcasters is the CBU-TV station in Vancouver.

This CBC outlet, construction of which is on schedule to the day, expects to begin transmitting test patterns on Channel 2 between mid-November and the first week in December.

Adequate reception will be provided by its temporary transmitter on Mount Seymour, and the permanent installation to follow is expected to give an excellent picture in Victoria.

ROCK BOTTOM PRICE

Victoria dealers believe that "rock bottom" has been reached on prices.

"They are a little lower than a year ago," said one department manager, "and will hold firm. Keen competition among manufacturers has driven the price about as low as it will go."

The sum of $250 will put a set with a 17-inch screen into a home, and aerial installation charges average at an additional $100.

Stations KING and KTNT are being received well, according to the experts. KMO-TV in Tacoma and KVOS-TV in Bellingham are received in varying degrees ranging from excellent to poor, depending on the location of the set in this area.

Girl Hurt in Crash

Audrey Turner, 12, of 1421 Gladstone, suffered an injured hip and forehead bumps Wednesday night when the bicycle she was riding was in collision with a car at Pandora and Camosun, city police reported.

She was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital by police and taken home after treatment. Police said the car was driven by Ernest B. Flavell, 1043 Hampshire.

WRONG NUMBER PHONES CAUSE FALSE ALARMS

Careless frequently causes fires; and it also rings 1,214 false alarms, in Saanich alone.

Because the public doesn't look at the directory listings carefully, people often dial the emergency number when all they want is a permit to burn a bucketful of rubbish, officials say.

Every time the Saanich alarm bell rings it alerts three fire stations in that municipality and three more in Victoria.

Firemen warn public carelessness wastes their time and might aggravate a real emergency.

ILLEGAL, BUT...

Briton Holds His Signals Best on Road

Capt. A. C. Cruchley, Arbutus Road, Saanich, is a champion of the automatic signal on English cars.

Before Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today the retired British army officer observed that "while signals on English cars are still labeled illegal to indicate a change of course, I believe they are the best signal on the road today."

Capt. Cruchley was before the court for failure to make a signal to indicate a change of course on Government at Pembroke September 26.

He became involved in a collision with a car driven by Ian Bamfield, Royal Oak.

Two officers said accused told them he had not made a hand signal to make a left turn. Bamfield said he had observed no signal.

Capt. Cruchley, however, claimed he had used the signal arm on his car and also put out his hand to back it up "because I know it is not considered a legal signal."

"I would not be fool enough to be here to fight this case if I hadn't made a signal," Capt. Cruchley observed. He did not recollect telling the officers he had not made a signal.

Magistrate Hall fined him $5.

Large Family Mourns Miss Mary Smith Here

Miss Smith, 52, who resided at 1395 Vista Heights, is survived by three brothers, Harry, Webster (Buster) and Wallace (Wally); five sisters, Mrs. P. Harvey, Mrs. K. Hancock, Mrs. H. Hardy, Mrs. D. Jones, and Miss Katherine (Mickey) Smith, all of Victoria.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Will you please tell me if there are any active coin clubs or philatelic clubs in Victoria, and if there are, where and when they meet?—Mrs. E. J. C.

A.—The Greater Victoria Philatelic Society has as its secretary Mr. Ernest P. Lines, 1885 Montelith Street, and it meets every fourth Friday. There are no active coin clubs in the city.

Q.—How can I dry native oak so it will not split or check?—J. S.

A.—It is a difficult task. In the experience of the Dominion Forest Products Laboratory at Vancouver, the best plan for Garry oak seems to be to nail a small battens across each end of each board as soon as the log is sawn up. In piling, the lumber should be spaced at least one-quarter inch. No attempt to dry it quickly should be made. It may be piled in a basement or other suitable place free from sun and weather, and left to dry slowly.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem, along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

For Outdoor-Type Gals ... Woodsy, Pine Scent!

By PENNY SAVER

Ah! That wonderful, refreshing aroma! If I close my eyes I find it easy to imagine I'm in a great pine forest. As you've probably guessed by now, I'm talking about pine perfume. . . . but it isn't just ordinary pine perfume! No indeed, for you can't see the bottle. A small log, expertly polished and varnished encases it completely, except for the lid. It goes without saying that this would make the ideal gift . . . but why not buy one for yourself? There's little chance of spilling, for the log prevents the bottle from toppling. Both the bark and the grain of the pine is shown, and on the polished grain is painted a cone design and the word, "Pine." 95 cents is the price!

A funny little elf's slipper, curled up at the toe would make a novel vase for small flowers. Quaint is the word to describe it, and it's made of a yellowy-brown glazed pottery. . . . 79 cents is the reasonable price.

If you're planning on buying a nightgown, you wouldn't expect to find one much cheaper than $1.49, would you? Well, that's exactly the price of the ones I spotted yesterday . . . although the price is small, the quality is good. Made of rayon jersey, the gowns are trimmed with fancy lace and ribbon. Some have mandarin collars and some have Peter Pan . . . some are dippy in the neckline and don't have collars at all! Take your pick from blue, pink, yellow and other pastel shades.

I thought for certain that it was wicker, but when I picked it up, I discovered it was porcelain. An excellent imitation of woven wicker, the bon bon sells at 35 cents. Imagine!

Umbrellas which shade from a pastel tone to deeper tones of the same color are still very much in fashion. And one company has gone just a step further . . . their umbrellas have matching handles. Yes! The fine calf leather handles are in the same two tones used in the shades. You have a wide choice of colors in the umbrellas which cost $6.95.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Oomph More Than Glamor; It Calls for Good Health

They used to call it "It." Now they call it Oomph — or sex appeal. It is the same thing with a different name. What characteristics make a woman appealing? I have always thought that the number one quality is vitality. Extreme aliveness is always magnetic.

By this I do not mean that a woman must rush about, do a little dance spontaneously once an hour or climb a tree, in order to prove her verve. While strong vitality does express itself physically, even in the way we walk and carry ourselves, its repercussion on personality is even greater.

A plus in vitality is reflected

Going Steady Has Its Good and Bad Points

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Going steady at an early age seems to be the goal of most girls. But they sometimes find that there are disadvantages to this, as is true of this one:

Hurlock

(Q)—"When you go steady you always have a date and are sure of going out. Yesterday was one year that I have been going steady with a boy who is 16. I am 16 also. We like each other very much but I have a few doubts about going steady. I think you have more fun going out with more than one boy. My parents like this boy and would hate to see me not going with him. Do you think I should break up with him just to go out with other boys? I was going to do this but was afraid I might want him back and he might find someone else or forget me. I would like to have your advice before I do anything."

(A)—Since you have gone steady with this boy for a year, a break-up with him now would put you out of circulation for a time and might make you miss the different parties at school or at the homes of your friends just at the time in your school life when parties are important to every girl.

For that reason I would suggest that you do not break off with this boy if you really like him and if you enjoy going out with him. However you might be able to compromise so that both you and he could see more people and do things with more people.

Surely you know this boy well enough by now to talk things over with him in a calm, unemotional way. You will have to be tactful or he may think you no longer like him or that you have become infatuated with someone else.

Why not suggest double or triple dates with some of your friends? Then when you are with them exchange dances with their partners, and talk to them instead of limiting yourself to your own date. In this way you will have the fun of knowing other boys without running the risk of being out on a limb with no one to date at all.

Foster Homes Need Baby Strollers, Used Cribs

Has anyone got a baby stroller stored away in the attic? Or a baby crib? The Family and Children's Service can make good use of them in their foster homes where small babies are being cared for and given the love and affection denied them by their own parents.

This was reported at last meeting of Women's Auxiliary to F and CS.

Anyone wishing to donate either strollers or cribs may do so by telephoning G1226 and arrangements will be made to collect them.

The auxiliary is also continuing the collection of old wool of any sort, which will be made into blankets. Mrs. J. de Bourcier presided at the meeting and it was reported that a sum of $97 was realized from a rummage sale. Knitting committee, convened by Mrs. P. Sinnott, turned in completed baby jackets, booties, bonnets and socks for distribution.

A sum of $50 was voted to purchase flannelette for one of the foster homes and it was decided to buy a holiday turkey for the Boys' Foster Home.

Plans were made for a mammoth Christmas Decoration Display to be held in the Empress Hotel on December 16, under convener'ship of Mrs. M. Hedley.

Dr. E. McNiven addressed the group on his work as medical adviser to the board of directors of Family and Children's Service.

Club Told Reading Almost Creative

The passive kind of reading that is pleasurable when we are tired or merely seeking distraction bears no more relation to true reading than bored staring out of a train window does, to profitable travel, Miss Gwen Scott told members of University Women's Club at their meeting Wednesday evening.

At the other extreme is reading that intoxicates, the speaker pointed out. "This is encountered most often in youth," she said, "but it can be experienced again and again... if our mental arteries do not harden."

In between these two extremes of reading, Miss Scott explained, "is the level of more moderate delight and interest on which most reading is done. On this level there is something of an interchange between author and reader, so that reading itself becomes almost a creative art."

Miss Scott reviewed three books for her audience, "People, Place and Books," by Gilbert Highet; "Too Late the Phalarope," by Alan Paton and "North From Malay," by William O. Douglas.

Mrs. H. S. Clark introduced the speaker and Mrs. Basil Port ritt thanked her at close of the address. Mrs. A. J. Butterfield presided and it was decided to increase the club scholarship given annually to a first year woman student with highest standing at Victoria College, to $150. New members, Mrs. R. G. Phillips, Mrs. A. Perren, Misses K. Youldall and M. Riddell, were welcomed.

Rugged Newfoundland Finds Faithful Friends

By PETE LOUDON

The rugged beauty of Canada's newest province and the oldest British colony, Newfoundland, can be enjoyed this week in a special showing at the Greater Victoria Arts Centre.

The work of two land and sea-scape artists, Peter van der Braken of Amsterdam and Miss Ethel Planta of Vancouver, the show is under sponsorship of Newfoundland's Premier, Joseph Smallwood.

Most of the scenes depict the sharply chiseled terrain still as crude and compelling as it must have looked to John Cabot in 1497. Ex-servicemen who visited those rocky shores in World War II will find the artists' work a faithful representation.

The harsh, forbidding 'Top-sail range, the lonely isolation of Bell Island, beached dories and drying fishnets are repeated throughout the many canvases.

The similarity of approach of the two painters suggests that their individual styles were submerged in the depth of the scenes.

Peter van der Braken has exhibited in many European centres during 40 years of painting. Four years from his homeland, he has lectured and taught in many eastern Canadian centres.

Miss Planta, who lived 25 years in Vancouver, is well known as a concert violinist, a field she deserted to spend more time with her oils.

UNORTHODOX METHOD

BRISTOL, England (CP)

There were threats of a ducking for Bob Brunton, 67, when he returned with the "king of cars," a monster fish that anglers had been baiting for years in a nearby lake. Anglers accused Brunton of "unfair methods" because he killed the carp with a stick when he found it worrying young swans.

THE TRIAL, one of the most bitter in movieland history, was continued until Oct. 28 to allow both sides time for negotiations on details of a property settlement.

A source, who declined use of his name but who was one of the main participants in a series of conferences among litigants and Judge Allan Ashburn, said the trial will follow this pattern:

Mrs. Wayne, who is suing her movie star husband for separate maintenance, will ask a divorce instead. Wayne, this source added, will not contest the suit.

However, Wayne, who is demanding a divorce, has expressed a desire to get his day in court to refute sensational charges hurled at him by his Mexican wife from the witness stand, and suggested that Wayne might make a rebuttal statement for the court record.

Details of the property settlement were not disclosed on instructions from the bench.

Roaring House Greet Scots Star In Fast-Paced Variety Road Show

By DAVE STOCK

A wee Scotsman, Alec Finlay, with six of his countrymen, a champion Australian baritone, two local youngsters and 14 members of the Canadian Scottish pipe band served up nearly three hours of good entertainment at the Royal Theatre Wednesday night.

Though intended primarily, perhaps, to give transplanted sons and daughters of Scotia a "taste o' home," the songs, music, jokes and skits were well received by everyone in the large audience.

Finlay, of course, is star of the show. He comes on first as a tired, old "Piper of Balmoral," sings a heart-warming song about how he's played for two queens, and then goes into a humorous account of his trip to the Coronation.

Mrs. Finlay, billed as Rita Andre, brings added laurels to the family playing opposite her husband in a soldier's skit, and for her rendition of the torch ballad, "Bill."

Soprano Evelyn Holmes, making her first appearance here, was a joy to see as well as hear. No wonder all the ladies smile at her a-comin' through the rye!

Australian baritone Alfred Lowe was the other featured vocalist. He has a fine, robust voice that won him a $3,000 scholarship "down under."

Will Starr, who makes wonderful music with an accordion although he doesn't always look happy about it, had some of the folks whoopin' with joy with a few lively scottisches.

VICTORIANS BILLED

The two local participants, Heather Duncan and Ron Marrs, gave a high-stepping Cake Walk which provided a special kick to the fast-paced show.

The entire show will be repeated tonight, Friday, the company will present a different show.

Federal Dues-Checkoff Law Again Proposed By Knowles

OTTAWA (CP) — Stanley Knowles, CCF member of the Commons for Winnipeg North Centre, announced today he will introduce a bill to provide for voluntary check-off of union dues in labor contracts.

Mr. Knowles said today he will withdraw his measure should the government introduce a similar one.

It would amend the federal labor code, which applies to such industries as railways, shipping and communications that are under Parliament's jurisdiction. It would not apply to current disputes over the check-off in strike-bound gold mines, under provincial jurisdiction.

VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENT

Under the voluntary revocable check-off, employers collect union dues when authorized by the individual union member, who may revoke the arrangement at any time. Mr. Knowles' bill would make this compulsory on the employer.

Newfoundland Wildlife To Be Studied

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The Newfoundland government is concerned over the future of wild life in the province, and the need for conservation.

To get a scientific appraisal of the situation the government commissioned Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, president of the Wildlife Management Institute of Washington, D.C., to make a survey.

Dr. Gabrielson, his wife, and Philip Barske, a field worker with the institute, will confer with game association heads and other outdoor enthusiasts in many parts of the island.

Dr. Gabrielson wants to get a widespread sampling of public opinion. On the basis of his report, the government expects to enact legislation designed to preserve wild life resources.

Dr. F. W. Rowe, minister of mines and resources, said that because all parts of the province are becoming increasingly accessible by road, the need for economy measures grows more urgent. Until now, he said, neither the government nor the public could be sure what measures were necessary. For example, many hunters claim partridge are practically extinct on the island while others say they are plentiful as ever, but wilder and more gun-shy.

One question that will probably be answered when Dr. Gabrielson's findings are made known is whether whistling deer should be introduced to Newfoundland. Decision will probably also be made on the introduction of squirrels and other alien species.

Tom Fool Finds Few Takers

BALTIMORE (CP) — Tom Fool, whose timing is fine in races and terrible in luck, checked in Wednesday for Saturday's Pimlico Special.

How much glory the Special may add to Tom Fool in horse racing memories is problematical. It's uncertain what horse, if any, is going to race him for the mile and three-sixteenths.

The only thoroughbred rated nearly a certain starter against Tom Fool is E. P. Taylor's Canadian champion, Navy Page.

Two other horses are mentioned as probable starters also. Ray de Stefano, trainer of Altered, plans to watch the horse work out today in New York to see if he's worth shipping here. Clarence Hartwick is mulling over the same thing about Sickle's Image.

Last Rites For Former Hockey Great

VANCOUVER (CP)—Funeral services were to be held here Thursday for Harry Cameron, an old-time hockey star who died Tuesday.

Cameron broke into organized hockey at the turn of the century when the game was still in its infancy. He started as a defenseman with the Toronto St. Pats and later joined Saskatoon Sheiks of the old Western Canada League.

He finished his active hockey career in the 1932-33 season as player-coach of Saskatoon Crescents.

He is survived by his widow, a son and three daughters.

The NISA schedule includes: Jan. 8, 9, 10—International Intercollegiate, University of British Columbia at Rossland, B.C.; Feb. 6, 7—International Invitational, University of Alberta, Banff, Canada; March 20, 21—Kimberley Invitational, Washington State College, Kimberley, B.C.

Grid Counsel Appeals Ruling

OTTAWA (CP)—Another attempt to have Paul Brown, coach of Cleveland Browns of the National Football League, appear in Ottawa was launched Wednesday by counsel for John Kissell, former star tackle with the Browns.

A similar move was turned down last week by the local master of the Supreme Court of Ontario. Kissell's counsel Wednesday moved to appeal the master's decision and the appeal is expected to be heard Saturday.

Based on a technicality in law, the motion would force the Cleveland coach to appear in Ottawa for questioning. Failure to appear would mean the Brown's action for an injunction to prevent Kissell from playing with Ottawa Rough Riders would be thrown out.

Actual hearing on the injunction proceedings has been set down for hearing early in November.

GOOD DEED

HALIFAX, (CP)—Twelve cub scouts lived up to their motto "be prepared" when they spotted a cabin on fire at Shearwater. They extinguished the blaze in the cabin walls with damp moss.

PUPILS' DREAM, 3-DAY WEEK, BRIEF REALITY

Greater Victoria school children have a three-day work week to look forward to next month.

The second week of November will require school attendance on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday only. Wednesday will be a holiday to mark Remembrance Day, and Friday will be a day off, too, so that teachers can attend the Vancouver Island Teachers' Association meeting to be held in Duncan.

No Trace Found Of Royal City Alderman's Son

NEW WESTMINSTER (BUP)—The North Surrey detachment of the RCMP reported today that no new developments had occurred in the search for the son of a New Westminster alderman.

Denis Roland McDonald, the son of Ald. Angus McDonald, was reported missing early Saturday morning, when police were notified of his stalled car abandoned on the Pattullo bridge.

The 20-year-old youth was last seen wearing a dark brown suit, green tie, brown shoes, and diamond socks.

All craft using the Fraser River in the vicinity of Pattullo Bridge have been alerted, although police do not deny the possibility that young McDonald is still alive.

Corriveau Goal Leader

MONTREAL (CP)—Andre Corriveau, Valleyfield Braves' ace sniper, leads the goal scorers in the Quebec Hockey League, the first issue of official statistics for the season disclosed Wednesday.

Corriveau has scored six goals in four games and has counted three assists for nine points, but is tied for point-scoring honors with Leo Gravelle and Jackie Leclair of Ottawa Senators.

WEE WILLIE STILL WINNIN'

ALBANY, Calif. (AP)—Jockey Willie Shoemaker brought in three more winners at Golden Gate Fields Wednesday to come within three of the incredible mark of 400 in a year.

The pint-sized Texan boosted his own world record to 397 aboard Bullroger in the third race, Touring Dog in the fourth and Irene's Angel in the sixth.

Officer Grilled 7 Hours in Probe Of Kidnap Arrest

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Police Lt. Louis Shoulders returned to seclusion Wednesday night after a seven-hour questioning session with his superiors as key witness in the investigation of possible irregularities in police handling of the Greenlease kidnap-slitting.

It was Shoulders who Oct. 6 arrested Carl Austin Hall, the confessed kidnap-killer of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease, and recovered about $293,000 in ransom cash.

The particulars of Hall's arrest and the handling of the ransom money are under investigation. Half of the $600,000 Greenlease ransom is unaccounted for.

O'Connell declined to comment one way or another on the results of Shoulders' testimony.

Sulky Leader

SARATOGA, SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—William Bud Gilmour, 21-year-old budding sulky star from Ridgeway, Ont., was the leading driver of the fall meeting at Saratoga Raceway. Gilmour had 14 firsts, seven seconds and four thirds in 41 starts for an average of .469.

Not all fight fans are trade union men, but a large proportion of union men are fight fans.

Regular meeting of Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council (TLC) was called off Wednesday night because less than 10 delegates arrived. Others, presumably, were hearing or watching the Turpin-Olson fight.

Reports of the B.C. Trade Union Congress in Vancouver will be given at the next meeting.

Record 1,300 Students Attend Night School

Night school enrollment in Greater Victoria rose to a new high this year with approximately 1,300 students registered. The school board's education committee reported Tuesday night only five courses were dropped from the original schedule because they lacked the minimum enrollment of 15, while other courses catered to a wide range of interests including leisure-time enjoyment, matriculation subjects, apprenticeship training and defense training.

It was revealed by Trustee A. P. Jeune, in answer to a question by board chairman Richard Reeve, that Esquimalt has the dubious distinction of being the only district in the area not served by a night school. The reason? Lack of interest.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Forbes Cruickshank, one of British Columbia's most famous detectives, died Tuesday. He was 86.

Mr. Cruickshank won international fame for his work in solving the notorious Beryl G hijacking and murder case in 1924 and was given credit for clearing up a $42,000 Nanaimo bank robbery the following year.

The Beryl G, a small vessel in the rum-running trade between Canada and the United States, was found off the State of Washington in 1924, her decks covered with bloodstains. The owner, Capt. George Gillis, and his son Bill, 17, were missing.

With only "clues" and "hunches" as clues, Mr. Cruickshank, then an inspector with the B.C. provincial police, started an investigation that took him through the slums of Seattle and finally across the continent.

His work resulted in the capture of Owen Cannonball Baker and Harry Sowish. They were convicted of murdering Capt. Gillis and hanged in 1935.

A year later the officer was instrumental in the capture of two bandits who held up a bank in Nanaimo and escaped with $42,000. The bandits included William Bagley, later hanged in California.

Mr. Cruickshank, who rose to assistant commissioner of the

Israel, Arab Row Critical Says Bennike

But UN Official Sees No Big War

NEW YORK (UP) — Maj. Gen. Vagan Bennike, chief of United Nations Truce Observation Commission in Palestine, arrived today to report to the United Nations Security Council on the Israeli-Arab crisis.

The Danish general said the differences in the Middle East are "critical," but he said he did not believe that the situation would break out "into a major conflict."

The council is scheduled to hear him tomorrow.

He said he did not think it would be possible for Israel and Jordan to settle their dispute among themselves.

TRAIN BLOWN UP

The UN trouble shooter arrived as tensions rose in the Middle East.

An Israeli freight train was wrecked today by land mines near the border of Jordan and an Israeli spokesman charged it was an act of Arab sabotage.

Bennike said he would not propose that present demilitarized areas between Jordan and Israel be extended.

"I hope that my meeting with the security council will bring peace to this dangerous part of the world," Bennike said.

Asked if his report would include a survey of the re-settlement of Arab refugees in the Middle East, Bennike replied: "Yes, there are 800,000 of them sitting along the border. They have lost all of their possessions and many of them can sit and look at their own land on the other side of the border."

Mr. Christie described as "insignificant" the amount of drugs now getting into Oakalla.

"A year ago the inmates boasted that drugs could be obtained in the jail at the rate of an ounce a week," he said. "Now it is only on rare occasions that it gets in."

The warden described how prisoners get drugs into the institution by swallowing them in a small rubber container. He said all other methods have virtually been stopped.

Mr. Scott said he was here for one reason, to find out why he was expelled. He said he will ask some delegates to raise the question on the floor of the convention.

The league refused to renew Mr. Scott's membership card after the Oak Bay constituency association demanded his expulsion for his part in protesting the suspension of two civil servants by the government during the summer for allegedly mishandling tenders.

Mr. Scott said he asked league president John Perdue for the reason for his expulsion and the only answer he got was that it was a unanimous executive board decision.

Mr. Scott said he had received no reason for his suspension from any party official. The only word was a brief note from the league's Victoria office that his application for membership renewal had been rejected.

He said he wants to know how he can be suspended without a hearing.

ATTACKS LIBERALS
In an hour-long speech national Socred leader Solon Low today struck out at all major political parties in Canada. He specifically mentioned the Liberal party which he said was dedicated to "the spoils system."

He said the senate was a place where "the wicked ceased to worry and the weary are at rest."

He asked what was the use of a senate that was the same "color" as the Commons? How could hasty legislation be checked?

Later, Premier W. A. C. Bennett welcomed the 500-odd delegates from all parts of B.C. and forecast an eventual federal Social Credit government.

'READ' AND 'AIDA' CROSSWORD STICKLERS

Two words proved big stumbling blocks for Times crossworders this week and no one came up with the correct answer.

To the definition "a long one may be found rather tiring," the puzzle composer gives the answer "read" rather than "road." His explanation is that it isn't a road that is tiring, but the traveling of it.

The other stickler, which some crossworders thought was a misprint, was the answer "aida" to "is and in an opera." It was just this shading in the definition that ruled out "aria."

Correct answer to the puzzle, No. 30, is on Page 23. The next puzzle, appearing Friday, Saturday and Monday will be worth $200, plus a $50 bonus if a winner is a regular subscriber.

W. A. Scott Demands Cause of Expulsion

Oak Bay Dispute May Be Aired on Floor Of B.C. Socred Convention at Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — W. A. Scott of Oak Bay, expelled from the Social Credit League some time ago, appeared at the league's annual convention here today.

Mr. Scott said he was here for one reason, to find out why he was expelled. He said he will ask some delegates to raise the question on the floor of the convention.

United States Announces Plant to Match British Project; Ready About Same Time

CHICAGO (AP) — The United States today announced its first full-scale attempt to tame atomic power for peace—a move billed as "America's answer" to Soviet claims of mastery over dread new nuclear weapons of war.

Thomas E. Murray, a member, said the Atomic Energy Commission will build an industrial power reactor producing at least 60,000 kilowatts of electrical energy — enough to run a city of 50,000.

He said the project will cost "many tens of millions of dollars" and that the AEC hopes to have an operating plant in three to four years.

The plant, Murray said, may be located "at or near" an AEC facility for separating uranium — 235, the paydirt of atomic power, from natural uranium. The AEC has one such facility at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and is building others at Paducah, Ky., and Portsmouth, Ohio.

He said Westinghouse Corporation will be the principal contractor for the new plant, of a design "inherited from a naval project." Rear Admiral H. G. Rickover, the U.S. navy's reactor expert, was given "immediate responsibility" for the new program.

BRITAIN UNDER WAY
LONDON (AP) — Britain already is building a full-scale atomic power plant and is ready to start work on another, a supply ministry spokesman said today.

The first, announced last May by Supply Minister Duncan Sandys, is under construction in the Calder hill area of Cumberland. A government spokesman said it will supply around 50,000 kilowatts to a big atomic research centre.

"This first station—it should be ready within three years—would be able to meet the needs of a fair-sized town," the spokesman said.

"We are ready to build a second and larger station as soon as we settle on a site."

The spokesman said the second plant will feed electricity into Britain's power networks.

STATE DEPARTMENT BLAMED
Plan to Meet Beria in Spain 'Fouled Up'

NEW YORK (AP) — A news paper man says a state department official disrupted arrangements he had made for a meeting in Spain with a man said to be ex-Russian police boss Lavrenty P. Beria.

Gene Fuson of the San Diego (Calif.) Union, returning from a trip to Spain, said Wednesday night he had worked out plans for meeting the man believed to be Beria.

But interference by U.S. state department representatives in Spain upset the schedule, Fuson claimed.

It was the San Diego newspaper which first carried the report—last September 20—that Beria, former No. 2 power in the Soviet government, had escaped Russia, where he had been put under arrest.

Fuson related that he had arranged to meet the alleged Beria, and two other men, through an intermediary in Malaga, Spain. But in Malaga, Fuson said, he was informed by the Spanish secret police that a state department representative had approached the intermediary and demanded, "where is Beria?"

Because the state department did not have any of the recognition signals, agreed upon, Fuson said he was informed, the intermediary "clammed up" and then was arrested by police at a state department agent's behest.

Meanwhile, Fuson said, the supposed Beria and the two others with him learned of the police action and disappeared. Fuson said later efforts to make contact with them under the original arrangements failed.

German Chancellor Says West Exhausts Efforts to Woo Reds

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
(Copyright, 1953, by United Press)

BONN, Germany (UP) — German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today the West has almost exhausted its efforts to woo Russia into Big Four peace talks and warned that the Kremlin will end the cold war only when it realizes it cannot grab control of western Europe.

In an exclusive United Press interview, the first he has granted since his re-election Oct. 6 to another four-year term, Adenauer said he doubted whether British Prime Minister Winston Churchill could produce worthwhile results by attempting to gain control of the situation in British Guiana was of such a character as to justify the extreme step of suspending the constitution. Shortly after parliament took up the question, Jagan told a press conference that although he is a "Marxist" his party has links with Moscow and never intended to set up a Red dictatorship in Guiana. He admitted in response to a question that the Chinese, who tried to hit a Communist propagandist with a chair last Saturday during a "come home to Communism" interview, now wanted to go home.

A United Nations command spokesman said the Allies objected to the repatriation of the Chinese because the five-nation neutral commission had failed to inform the UN the man would be heard.

Lyttelton Indicts Jagan on 6 Points

Deposed Guiana Premier Listens From Gallery

LONDON (BUP) — Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton charged today in the House of Commons that an international Communist conspiracy had attempted to set up a Communist state in British Guiana.

He demanded parliamentary approval for the suspension of the British South American colony.

Lyttelton opened an urgent debate before a crowded House of Commons on British policy in the so-called "Red colony."

Prime Minister Winston Churchill has called for a vote of confidence on Britain's swift action in sending troops to the area, ousting its Leftist government and suspending its constitution.

The colony's ousted premier, Dr. Cheddi Jagan, a handsome East Indian dentist who married an American and learned his profession in Chicago, sat in the distinguished visitors' gallery along with his deposed education minister, L. F. S. Burnham.

The two listened attentively as Lyttelton ripped into the policies of their People's Progressive Party government.

"What emerges," Lyttelton told the House, "is a coherent picture of ministers, no doubt largely dominated by Communist ideas, who gradually reduced government to a farce, who were threatening the order of the colony, threatening the livelihood of its inhabitants and undermining not only its present economic stability but all chances of building it up."

He spoke to a tense House whose galleries were crowded with colonial observers, on a question which Churchill's government chose to regard as one of confidence.

Lyttelton declared that "impartial observers would draw few conclusions from the white paper on British Guiana just published."

"The (PPP) ministers were attempting to gain control of the machinery of government for the sole furtherance of party and not national interests."

"2. Ministers, while holding their portfolios, first succeeded in promoting and inciting strikes for political purposes in the sugar industry and then attempted, though without success, to turn those strikes into general strikes."

"3. Ministers attempted to oust existing trade unions and substitute unions under their own control."

"4. Ministers condoned, if not incited, the population to violence."

"5. They neglected in a most irresponsible manner their duties as administrators of their departments."

question that he intended to deprive his political opponents of the right to vote, but quickly qualified the statement by adding that only "warmongers and supporters of racial hatred" would be disfranchised.

Burnham said the guilt of alleged warmongers and haters would be decided by "the same people who judge larceny and other crimes."

Neither man would answer when asked if that means the PPP planned to "set up tribunals to judge people's policies and disfranchise them on political grounds alone."

Chair-Swinging Anti-Red Prisoner Agrees to Return
PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP) — The neutral nations repatriation commission sent a chair-swinging anti-Communist Chinese war prisoner back to the Reds today and the Allies announced they would protest.

Polish and Czech members ended their three-day boycott of the commission's activities and subjected the confused Chinese to an intensive 45-minute grilling.

The commission then announced that the Chinese, who tried to hit a Communist propagandist with a chair last Saturday during a "come home to Communism" interview, now wanted to go home.

A United Nations command spokesman said the Allies objected to the repatriation of the Chinese because the five-nation neutral commission had failed to inform the UN the man would be heard.

A-POWER PLANTS THREE YEARS AWAY

United States Announces Plant to Match British Project; Ready About Same Time

CHICAGO (AP) — The United States today announced its first full-scale attempt to tame atomic power for peace—a move billed as "America's answer" to Soviet claims of mastery over dread new nuclear weapons of war.

Thomas E. Murray, a member, said the Atomic Energy Commission will build an industrial power reactor producing at least 60,000 kilowatts of electrical energy — enough to run a city of 50,000.

He said the project will cost "many tens of millions of dollars" and that the AEC hopes to have an operating plant in three to four years.

The plant, Murray said, may be located "at or near" an AEC facility for separating uranium — 235, the paydirt of atomic power, from natural uranium. The AEC has one such facility at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and is building others at Paducah, Ky., and Portsmouth, Ohio.

He said Westinghouse Corporation will be the principal contractor for the new plant, of a design "inherited from a naval project." Rear Admiral H. G. Rickover, the U.S. navy's reactor expert, was given "immediate responsibility" for the new program.

BRITAIN UNDER WAY
LONDON (AP) — Britain already is building a full-scale atomic power plant and is ready to start work on another, a supply ministry spokesman said today.

The first, announced last May by Supply Minister Duncan Sandys, is under construction in the Calder hill area of Cumberland. A government spokesman said it will supply around 50,000 kilowatts to a big atomic research centre.

"This first station—it should be ready within three years—would be able to meet the needs of a fair-sized town," the spokesman said.

"We are ready to build a second and larger station as soon as we settle on a site."

The spokesman said the second plant will feed electricity into Britain's power networks.

STATE DEPARTMENT BLAMED
Plan to Meet Beria in Spain 'Fouled Up'

NEW YORK (AP) — A news paper man says a state department official disrupted arrangements he had made for a meeting in Spain with a man said to be ex-Russian police boss Lavrenty P. Beria.

Gene Fuson of the San Diego (Calif.) Union, returning from a trip to Spain, said Wednesday night he had worked out plans for meeting the man believed to be Beria.

But interference by U.S. state department representatives in Spain upset the schedule, Fuson claimed.

It was the San Diego newspaper which first carried the report—last September 20—that Beria, former No. 2 power in the Soviet government, had escaped Russia, where he had been put under arrest.

Fuson related that he had arranged to meet the alleged Beria, and two other men, through an intermediary in Malaga, Spain. But in Malaga, Fuson said, he was informed by the Spanish secret police that a state department representative had approached the intermediary and demanded, "where is Beria?"

Because the state department did not have any of the recognition signals, agreed upon, Fuson said he was informed, the intermediary "clammed up" and then was arrested by police at a state department agent's behest.

Meanwhile, Fuson said, the supposed Beria and the two others with him learned of the police action and disappeared. Fuson said later efforts to make contact with them under the original arrangements failed.

CHURCHILL UPHELD ON STAND IN GUIANA

Decisive Confidence Vote by Commons

LONDON (CP)—The House of Commons tonight gave the Churchill government a decisive vote of confidence on its action in British Guiana, where it suspended the constitution and members of the government whom it accused of leading a plot to make the South American colony a Communist state.

W. A. Scott Demands Cause of Expulsion

Oak Bay Dispute May Be Aired on Floor Of B.C. Socred Convention at Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—W. A. Scott of Oak Bay, expelled from the Social Credit League some time ago, appeared at the league's annual convention here today.

Mr. Scott said he was here for one reason, to find out why he was expelled. He said he will ask some delegates to raise the question on the floor of the convention.

The league refused to renew Mr. Scott's membership card after the Oak Bay constituency association demanded his expulsion for his part in protesting the suspension of two civil servants by the government during the summer for allegedly mishandling tenders.

Mr. Scott said he asked league president John Perdue for the reason for his expulsion and the only answer he got was that it was a unanimous executive board decision.

Mr. Scott said he had received no reason for his suspension from any party official. The only word was a brief note from the league's Victoria office that his application for membership renewal had been rejected.

He said he wanted to know how he can be suspended without a hearing.

ATTACKS LIBERALS
In an hour-long speech national Socred leader Solon Low today struck out at all major political parties in Canada. He specifically mentioned the Liberal party which he said was dedicated to "the spoils system."

He said the senate was a place where "the wicked ceased to worry and the weary are at rest."

He asked what was the use of a senate that was the same "color" as the Commons? How could hasty legislation be checked?

Later, Premier W. A. C. Bennett welcomed the 500-odd delegates from all parts of B.C. and forecast an eventual federal Social Credit government.

Prison Chief Confirms Drug Charge
VANCOUVER (CP)—Warden Hugh Christie of Oakalla Prison, Farm admitted today that drugs were still being brought into the prison farm secretly by inmates, although the traffic is down considerably from a year ago.

He was commenting on testimony of Dennis Charles O'Brien, 28, the first man ever charged as an habitual criminal in Victoria.

O'Brien, sentenced in Assize Court in Victoria Tuesday to two years and six months and fined $200 for possession of narcotics, said drugs were for sale at Oakalla. He pleaded guilty Wednesday to a second charge. (See story, page 6.)

Mr. Christie described as "insignificant" the amount of drugs now getting into Oakalla.

"A year ago the inmates boasted that drugs could be obtained in the jail at the rate of an ounce a week," he said. "Now it is only on rare occasions that it gets in."

Briton, American Share Nobel Prize for Medicine

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A Harvard University scientist and a German-born British professor jointly won the 1953 Nobel Prize for medicine and physiology for their discovery of fundamental life mechanisms inside human cells, it was announced today.

The honor went to Dr. Fritz Albert Lipmann, 54, professor of biochemistry at Harvard medical school, Cambridge, Mass., and Dr. Hans Adolf Krebs, 53, professor of biochemistry at Britain's Sheffield University.

They will share the 175,292 Swedish crowns $33,840 prize money.

Dr. Lipmann gained the distinction through his discovery of coenzyme A, an organic substance that plays an important part in nearly every biological process. Dr. Krebs was cited for his "wheel of fortune" explanation of how food becomes energy in living tissue. The two developments are closely related.

Both achievements were described by Dr. Goran Liljestrand, secretary of the medical Nobel committee, as being "of the utmost theoretical significance and very likely to have great practical importance in understanding diseases and similar disturbances."

The award was the 44th made by Stockholm's Caroline Institute of Medicine under the will of the late Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite, who died in 1896.
